Hospital Blast and Poison Gases Kill 66

Cleveland Hospital Filled With Patients and Prominent Physicians When Explosion Occured—Fifty Patients Trapped In Roaring Inferno of Flames—Many Patients Unconscious When Removed.

Cleveland, May 15 (AP).—Firemen ♦ 66 persons were killed by an explosion and poison gases that were created by a blast shortly after noon today at the Cleveland Clinic hospital.

At 12:15 p. m., it was estimated fifty more patients were trapped in the roaring inferno of flames. Pedestrians for a block around were reported gasping and dropping to the sidewalks, overcome by the gas. Twenty of the injured were taken to the Mount Sinai Hospital, where it was reported at least ten were in serious condition.

Blasts in X-ray Room.

There were two blasts of undetermined cause in the X-ray room. Fire broke out almost immediately, and fumes of chemicals and poison gases filled the building.

Scores of patients were taken from the wards and clinic rooms and rushed in ambulances to nearby hospitals. It was difficult to determine whether some of them were dead or alive.

Firemen Brave Death.

In a short time the building was a mass of flames. Firemen braved death to rescue helpless patients, carrying them out through windows.

Many of the patients were unconscious when removed. Some were stunned and others were suffering from the poison gases.

The injured and dying were rushed to the Mount Sinai and Huron Road hospitals and the Hospital Clinic. Among the twenty at Mount Sinai who died. Another died at the Huron Road Hospital.

Shortage of Ambulances.

Some of the victims of the explosion and fire were lying on the lawn of the hospital because there were not enough ambulances to rush them to other hospitals.

Observers at the fire said some of the victims on the lawn turned a pale green and that they seemed dead.

At Mount Sinai all available wards and rooms, hallways and beds were filled. Nurses, doctors and internes worked feverishly applying first aid and artificial respiration, even calling women and janitors were pressed into service.

MAYOR RE-ELECTED IN JERSEY CITY

Jersey City, May 15 (AP).—Mayor Frank Hague and four other Democratic city commissioners have been elected for another four-year term in the most determined assault to crush the Hague organization has been subjected since its leader entered public life 20 years ago.

Complete returns showed a plurality for the Hague slate of between 25,000 and 30,000 over an anti-Hague Fusion ticket.

Hague's re-election was regarded as entrenching him more securely in the position as leader of the New Jersey Democratic organization.

The bitterness of the campaign led police to take extraordinary precautions to prevent disturbances and violence during the balloting, but their fears proved groundless for the most part.

James Burkitt, who calls himself a "Jeffersonian Democrat" and who led the fight on Mayor Hague, was the object of two hostile demonstrations. Mr. Hague has been mayor 12 years.

GOV. MILLER IN STATE BUDGET CONTROVERSY.

Albany, N. Y., May 15 (AP).—Announcement that former Governor Nathan L. Miller would act with Attorney General Hamilton Ward and Director General Claude Dawes in presenting to the supreme court the state's side in the state budget controversy was made by the attorney general today.

The question to be decided by the court is whether the state comptroller can audit and approve vouchers and issue warrants upon the state treasurer for payment of certain lump sum appropriations without the certification of the chairmen of the financial committees of the legislature.

CASES IN POLICE COURT BEFORE JUDGE SHUFELDT.

Three cases were brought to the attention of Judge Shufeldt in police court today. Wilbert Newgold of Woodstock was arrested for parking his car on the crosswalk at Wall and John streets and Ralph Harrison of Woodstock for parking his car in the restricted area on Fair street. Both received suspended sentences. Ernest Graham of Hurley avenue, arrested for public intoxication on North Front street, also received a suspended sentence.

Suggest Means to Insure Prosperity

Committee Studying Unemployment Conditions of Past Seven Years Announces Its Findings and Conclusions—Only the Fringe of Potentialities Has Been Touched.

Washington, May 15 (AP).—Maintenance and extension of the economic balance between production and consumption is suggested as the means of inspiring an increasingly prosperous future for the United States in the report published today by the committee on recent economic changes of the President's conference on unemployment.

"To maintain this balance, and to extend it into fields which are not now in balance with the more prosperous elements of the nation, is clearly an important problem of leadership," it says, asserting at another point "we seem only to have touched the fringe of our potentialities."

The committee, which was actively headed by Herbert Hoover in the earlier stages of its work prior to his presidential campaign, predicted a forecast of continuous advance of living standards on the maintenance of high wages in the light of the "insatiable commodity demand," increasing application of scientific and managerial skill, and elimination of speculation.

The report, in addition to the name of President Hoover as chairman, bears those of Walter F. Brown, Renick W. Dunlap, William Green, Julius Klein, John S. Lawrence, Max Mason, George McFadden, Adolph C. Miller Lewis E. Pierson, John J. Raskob, March W. Shaw, Louis J. Taber, Daniel Willard, Clarence Woolley, Owen D. Young and Edward Eyre Hunt, the secretary.

Survey Covers Seven Year Period.

It deals with the period from 1922 to 1929 and is the third survey growing out the President's conference on unemployment of 1921, the former two having had to do with business cycles and unemployment and with seasonal operation in the construction industries.

The Hoover committee describes as the outstanding facts illuminated by its survey the necessity of consciously accepting and wilfully applying "the principle of equilibrium" in every economic relation if the nation is to "maintain our economic advantage or fully hope to recognize our economic future."

"If natural resources are wastefully used," it says; "if money in quantity is taken out of production and employed for speculation, if any group develops a method of artificial price advancement which puts one commodity out of balance with others; if either management or labor disregards the common interest—to this extent equilibrium will be destroyed for all."

STUDENTS BEGIN SECOND DAY OF HUNGER STRIKE

Charleston, S. C., May 15 (AP).—Seven hundred students of the Citadel, South Carolina Military College, arose with empty stomachs this morning to face the second day of their hunger strike to protest against the food served in the mess hall.

Their leaders declared they have protested continuously against the food and that, since nothing was done about it they determined on the strike as the only means of bettering the situation. Officials, however, said they had received no protests.

The strike started yesterday morning when the students marched to breakfast but left their food untouched. Throughout the day they rejected their meals, although many patronized the canteen.

GENERAL ALARM SOUNDED WHEN FLOOD THREATENS.

Memphis, Tenn., May 15 (AP).—A general alarm today summoned every available man in Kennett, Mo., to the main levee along the St. Francis river near White Oak, where a crevasse threatens. A break at that point would flood approximately 100,000 acres of rich farm land.

Standard Oil Dividends.

New York, May 15 (AP).—Directors of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey today declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share on the common and the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents. Previously an extra of 12½ cents had been paid. The dividends are payable June 15 to stock of record May 25.

Probe Accident Three Years Old

Authorities Seek to Ascertain If There Was Negligence in Filming Historical in Which One Man Was Killed and Four Seriously Injured.

Los Angeles, May 15 (AP).—The death of one man and the serious injury of four others during the filming of a scene in "Old Ironsides", a historical film, nearly three years ago, was under investigation by the district attorney's office here today to determine whether criminal negligence was involved.

Charles Gerald Davis, a seaman, was killed, and Harry Broyles, Erick R. Johnson, Ernest Olson and Charles Carlson were injured in a dynamite blast aboard the Llwellyn J. Morse, a vessel fitted out to resemble the historic U. S. S. Constitution, in Santa Catalina Bay on June 27, 1926.

The five men were perched 90 feet up the mizzenmast of the dummy frigate when the mast was blown away in repetition of a bombardment from a Barbary coast pirate fort. The mast had been cut in such a way as to throw the men to safety, but when blasted it fell in the opposite direction, dashing them into the sea and onto rocks.

The circumstances of the accident were investigated in August, 1926, and the matter was dropped on decision of Asa Keyes, then district attorney of Los Angeles county, that no criminal negligence existed.

District Attorney Buron Fitts reopened the case yesterday upon receiving a report from United States Attorney S. W. McNabb, who had made an inquiry in behalf of the government. McNabb declared that since the accident had taken place within the three-mile limit the government was without jurisdiction. The federal attorney declared the evidence indicated there had been criminal negligence and that the case was within the jurisdiction of Los Angeles county.

James Cruze, motion picture director, who was in charge of the filming of the scene, has stated that he would welcome a reopening of the investigation.

"Dry" Campaign Starts in Mexico

At First It Will Be of an Educational Nature Looking Eventually to Drastic Prohibition Laws.

Mexico City, May 15 (AP).—A broad temperance campaign, looking to eventual drastic prohibition laws, has been initiated by the Mexican president, Emilio Portes Gil. It is to be developed as quickly as national conditions permit, taking perhaps five to ten years for realization. Expenses are to be borne by the government.

The first step in the campaign will be the formation Monday of a national committee on temperance. It is to be headed by the secretary of public health.

This national committee will have charge of the government's temperance activities, having as its eventual object prohibition of all alcoholic beverages except beer and wine, and public sale of these even to be denied to women and children.

A probable first step of the committee will be promulgation of regulations permitting sale of hard liquors only in sealed bottles to be consumed other than where purchased.

Listed as "hard" liquors are whiskey, gin, and absinthe. Pulque, the drink most popular among Mexico's poor, was not mentioned in the president's announcement.

Other Phases of Campaign.

The government will make every effort to aid in the adaptation of breweries and distilleries to other pursuits. Other phases of the campaign include compulsory classes in Mexican schools in which the alleged evils of the drink habit will be taught, a system of reducing in number dance halls and cabarets, and providing sports activities to develop healthy physiques less likely, it is claimed, to demand alcohol as a stimulant.

It is the president's contention that prohibition will be best achieved in Mexico by accustoming the Mexican people to it little by little.

SPEAKEASY SYNDICATE QUITS FIGHTING POLICE

Montreal, Que., May 15 (AP).—The fight of a speakeasy syndicate against police activities collapsed today.

The constitutionality of the provincial law which declares that frequenters in "blind pigs" may be arrested without warrant will not be challenged, it was announced today by lawyers who have been defending persons so arrested.

The decision followed one by Judge Amedee Monet that the courts had jurisdiction to try cases in which persons were arrested without warrants during raids made by the Quebec liquor commission.

The Montreal Gazette in commenting on Judge Monet's decision says: "Thus came to an end the fight of the speakeasy syndicate against the legality of the police activities, which have crippled the illegal drinking resorts within recent weeks. Some speakeasies will no doubt continue to exist in the face of the law but the industry in general is doomed."

"EXAMINATION PERIODS NEUROSIS" HITS STUDENTS

Philadelphia, May 15 (AP).—Five hundred University of Pennsylvania students swept down on a triple street intersection in West Philadelphia near the university last night and staged a riot that called forth police reserves.

Taking charge of the traffic light at that point the students switched the red, green and yellow signals at split second intervals tieing traffic up in a jam that required a half hour to disentangle. Trolley poles were jerked from the wires and torpedoes were placed on the tracks of those still able to proceed. The explosion of these, added to the yells of the students and the honking of horns raised a terrific din.

Upon the arrival of police the students in the street fled behind the entrance gates of the campus which were quickly closed behind them while others in dormitories facing the street continued to throw torpedoes. Three of the students fled to the top of a nearby hill from which they sent old automobile tires rolling down into the street. One of these students was captured and charged with disorderly conduct. He said he was John Barber, 20, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Two Cars Crash.

An automobile collision between the car of Francis J. Whalen of Mohonk Lake and the Ford truck driven by Joseph J. McNierney of Newkirk avenue was reported to the police Tuesday. The cars crashed at Broadway and O'Neil street. Both machines were damaged, but no one was injured.

Attack Religion Along New Lines

Soviet Russia May Remove Constitutional Restrictions In Order to Wage New War by Removing Stimulus of Persecution.

Moscow, May 15 (AP).—Constitutional restrictions on religions in Soviet Russia probably will be removed soon and the country made free for all religious practices. Such a move, however, will not be made so much that the country may derive such benefits as religions may offer as that the communistic war against religions may be waged the better when they are brought into the open.

The removal of the restrictions will be effected by means of an amendment to the Soviet constitution which Alexei Rykoff, chairman of the Council of People's Commissars, told the all-Russian Congress of Soviets yesterday soon would be proposed.

Decrees fighting religion have brought harm as well as benefit, M. Rykoff commented, explaining that the Congress would be called upon to ratify an amendment providing for separation of church and state and church and schools, and the granting to all citizens of the right of religious practice, as well as of anti-religious propaganda.

From his speech it was inferred that the Soviet was not abandoning its attempts to discredit religion but was seeking simply to proceed along different lines by removing the stimulus of persecution.

The Soviet government disestablished the church and appropriated certain classifications of its property by a decree of January 23, 1918.

At first there were violent attacks on the Greek Orthodox Church, the prevailing religion of Russia, which the Soviet state considered one of its greatest menaces.

There followed a period of milder suppressive measures and finally indifference toward the practice of religions by the older generation while the state concentrated on the spread of atheistic and materialistic doctrines among the youth.

Master Detective Will Be Trained

Public Spirited Chicago Citizens to Endow Bureau at Northwestern University Where Course in Sherlock Holmes Training Will be Given.

Chicago, May 15 (AP).—The master detective capable of outwitting the master criminal is expected to step out of the printed page and become a reality at a bureau of crime soon to be established at Northwestern University. There it is planned the microscope will replace the nightstick and negligible clues be transformed into convicting evidence.

Burt A. Massee, Vice President of the Colgate Palm Olive Peet Company, has sponsored the project and won the indorsement of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Massee conceived the idea for the crime bureau while serving as foreman of a coroner's jury, investigating the septuple gang massacre in a north side garage last February.

"Every weapon that modern science can bring into the field aginst crime will be employed," Massee declared in outlining his plans for the proposed bureau. "Blood stains, scraps of clothing, dust on the skin or clothing, and other bits of evidence often neglected in the regular police investigation will be made to tell their deadly tales."

Bring Expert from New York.

The Crime Bureau has advanced so far that Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert who was brought here from New York by Massee to aid in the gang massacre investigation, has been named head of the ballistics department. General Nathan William MacChesney has been given the task of organizing the bureau and has conferred with Northwestern officials. He reported they received the proposition warmly.

The bureau will be endowed at first by public spirited citizens, but after five years Massee believes it will be self-supporting through attracting students from all parts of the world.

THREE WANDERING GIRLS PICKED UP IN KINGSTON.

Frances Godette, 15, and two sisters, Rose and Mary Borelli, aged 18 and 15 years respectively, who reside in Hoboken, applied for lodging at the Salvation Army on Tuesday evening and were referred to a rooming house on Green street. The Army authorities thinking the girls had run away from home, notified the police, and all three girls were taken to the court house where they were cared for over night. Their families were notified and stated that they would come to Kingston today after the girls.

Club Federation Convention.

Y., May 15 (AP).—The thirty-third annual convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs of western New York opened here today with more than 300 delegates from women's clubs in 12 counties present for the three-day conference. International relations in business and social life and the changing of alignment in women's interests will be the principal topic.

L. S. Decker, Chairman.

This department has always related itself to all of the rest of the work. Every phase of the association's activities must necessarily be conducted by having religious motives in mind by all the committees.

A course on the "Reformation" was given again under the jurisdiction of Rutgers Theological Seminary by Dr. Hoffman.

The following ministers conducted Sunday afternoon meetings in the auditorium during the winter season: The Rev. C. B. Smith, the Rev. H. H. Black, the Rev. Lucas Boeve, the Rev. C. G. Ellis, the Rev. W. F. Stowe, the Rev. A. S. Cole, with an attendance of 755. The respective choirs accompanied their pastors at each meeting. Much comment was given regarding this effort and the committee feels this feature should be repeated the coming season.

The ministerial association was the guest of the association in June, 1928. They met at the lodge of the Y's Men's Camp.

The Cadman banquet and annual meeting was one of the outstanding religious meetings of the year, which was held June 21 of the fiscal year, with an attendance of 350.

The members of the staff cooperated with the churches and Sunday schools in teaching Bible classes, filling pulpits and speaking to men's church clubs.

Graf Zeppelin To Start Thursday For United States

Flight Delayed by Failure to Receive Permit from French Government to Fly Over France—Flying Hours Unrestricted—Relatives Ask New York Woman Not to Make Trip.

Paris, May 15 (AP).—The French government has given Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, permission to fly over France at any hour convenient to him without further notice, the German embassy informed The Associated Press this morning. The new permission was granted this morning.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 15 (AP)—Rain or shine, the dirigible Graf Zeppelin, already delayed a day, was expected to start from Friedrichshafen for the United States at six o'clock tomorrow morning (12:00 midnight eastern standard time).

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the great ship, assembled his eighteen passengers at the Kurgarten Hotel shortly before noon and told them he planned to leave at that hour. Weather conditions, he said, were so favorable that he expected to make Lakehurst by Saturday night after a flight of from 67 to 70 hours.

His probable route will be by way of Besancon to the mouth of the Loire or if necessary by way of Cape Finistere, then straight westward north of the Azores reaching the American coast in the neighborhood of Virginia or the District of Columbia.

The departure of the Graf Zeppelin, which had been scheduled originally for this morning, was delayed because of the lateness of the hour at which Dr. Eckener was notified he had been given permission by the French authorities to fly over France. The permit, however, restricted him to the hours from 7 to 9. This, coupled with the shortness of time he had left, caused him to put the flight off twenty-four hours.

There was much mystery as to the plans of Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York city, who has taken passage aboard the Graf Zeppelin much to the distress of her relatives. Mrs. Pierce, through John E. Kehl, American consul at Stuttgart, has received an urgent request from the secretary of state not to make the trip.

She promised Mr. Kehl she would not, but there was reason to believe her promise had been made chiefly to keep her relatives from worrying and that she still was planning to sail.

Woman Cancels Passage.

Captain von Schiller, of the Graf Zeppelin, announced late today that Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York, the only woman listed on the dirigible's passenger roster, had cancelled her passage.

Time Set for Departure.

The departure of the Graf Zeppelin for the United States was definitely set late today for between 5:30 a. m and 6 a. m. Central European time tomorrow (between 11:30 p. m. and 12:00 midnight Eastern Standard time) Wednesday.

THIRD FLIGHT TO UNITED STATES FROM GERMANY.

Berlin, May 15 (AP).—While the Graf Zeppelin was awaiting her second takeoff for New York, a third flight to the United States late in July was announced today through the Hamburg-American line.

It also was stated that the return trip will be for American passengers, the beginning of a round-the-world cruise of which Tokyo, San Diego and Lakehurst are now fixed landing points.

A third announcement was that a "midnight sun trip" will be made late in June over Lapland and the Norwegian coast to the Arctic Circle.

HARVARD STUDENT'S DEATH REMAINS A MYSTERY

Windsor, Conn., May 15 (AP).—A week since the body of Walter Treadway Huntington was discovered, shot to death in a field two miles from his home here, authorities today admitted that the most intensive hunt for clues ever conducted in Hartford county had revealed nothing. They were apparently willing to write it down as one of the state's unsolved mysteries.

Edward J. Hickey, county detective, has held to a theory of suicide. Two medical examiners have agreed the 21-year-old Harvard College junior met death by homicide.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Expert deduction is that father and the boys are economizing on clothes, while mother and the girls are buying more and more togs to keep pace with the styles. An analysis has been made by the Merchants Association of New York of statistics showing that the output of men's and boys' clothing in the city dropped from $287,000,000 in 1925 to $269,000,000 in 1927 while production of women's clothes increased from $1,095,000,000 to $1,145,000,000.

London—The Duchess of Bedford, 63, hopes to break the world long distance flight record. She will share the controls with Captain C. D. Barnard on a flight to India. The Duchess already has flown over the Alps, Vesuvius and the Pyrenees. She has a private plane at her country mansion.

New York—Peter Salm, 4½ year old son of Mrs. Millicent Rogers Rainos by her first husband, has returned from France, where he visited his grandmother, Mrs. H. H. Rogers. A nurse brought him back.

Philadelphia—A soldier of 55 centuries ago is undergoing some dentistry at the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania. His teeth are being polished. A skull found in a grave on the site of Ur of the Chaldees is being prepared for exhibition. It is that of a soldier who was killed and buried with his monarch so there would be protection for royalty in the next existence.

New York—Filmdom hears that Dolores Costello Barrymore, happy bride, has had to compromise. The powers that be have insisted that the name Dolores Costello be retained for business reasons, but her chair at the studio in Hollywood bears the name Dolores Barrymore.

Havana—Never again for Paul Mulper, who sailed alone from Hamburg to Havana in a twenty-five foot sloop. "I've had enough of lonesome roughing it," he says. There's a fraulein awaiting in Germany whom he intends to marry.

Moscow—Records of Lenin's speeches and films of various scenes from his life are to be installed in museums devoted to him in various parts of the country.

The ring in which Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney fought in Philadelphia in 1926 now is in the gymnasium of the Hill School for Boys at Pottstown, Pa.

TWENTY-YEAR-OLD CAR STILL IS ON STREETS

Detroit (AP)—The durability of the American motor car is cited by a Detroit manufacturer who recently received an order for a valve for a 20-year-old car.

The owner, who lives in New York, reported the car still was in daily use. A crank case was sent to Nebraska for a motor 22 years old which is being used as a power plant for a circular saw.

One Last Hope

"I've got one advantage over you still," said the horse as he looked at the automobile that was staring him. "When I'm worn out I can be worked up into canned beef and glue, and you can't."

No— cuts won't heal themselves in a KELLY SPRINGFIELD

BUT you're not so likely to get cuts, because the tread rubber of a Kelly-Springfield is about the toughest thing in the world.

Don't get the idea from this that Kelly quality is plastered on the outside after the tire is completed. It's built in, from the inside out. That's how Kelly-Springfield got its reputation. It's this extra Kelly quality that keeps a Kelly going after other tires have quit. It's the difference between a champion and a near-champion.

When it costs no more to buy the best, why not ride on Kellys? We can make you an attractive trade-in proposition on your old tires.

Everywhere you see scenes like this

A NEW house under construction; half a dozen cars in front of it. Or a factory working to capacity with a hundred, or five hundred, cars around it.

Who own these cars? American workers.

How have they been purchased? Many of them as "used cars," through the convenient GMAC Plan.

The world goes forward in proportion as its workers can make effective use of their time. The used car has made it possible for millions of men and women to increase their incomes and improve their living by applying their time more effectively.

3 out of 5 buy used cars

Of the cars you see on the road today, three out of five have been purchased by their owners as "used cars." Many of them are serving as "second cars" for families which need two or more cars to meet the requirements of all their members. Many others are affording satisfactory transportation to families who otherwise would be denied automobile ownership.

The cars which General Motors dealers are taking in trade offer real opportunities in second transportation at low cost. They present a wide choice of body types and styles; and for convenience in purchase, General Motors extends the GMAC Payment Plan.

Annual Meeting Of "Y" Tonight

At the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. tonight, which begins at 6:15 o'clock, Judge Adrian Lyon of Perth Amboy, N. J., will be the principal speaker. He is a man familiar with "Y" work and is widely known in the organization's circles throughout the United States and Canada. His popularity as a speaker makes it difficult for an engagement in Kingston, so it is anticipated that all concerned will attend the meeting tonight to hear what he has to say.

At the meeting six directors will be elected to the board of managers to fill vacancies left by the expiration of members' terms. Reports of various committees and departments will be given.

The banquet will be in charge of the Misses Davenport. The Ladies' Auxiliary will do the serving. Zucca's orchestra will be present to enliven the occasion with music and songs.

Health Board Lacked Quorum

Owing to the lack of a quorum of members the monthly meeting of the board of health was not held Tuesday evening at the city hall. The most important matter that was to come before the meeting was the election of a health officer to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. E. H. Loughran. Dr. L. E. Sanford has been recommended to the board as health officer and it is expected that he will be chosen for the position when the board meets.

Black Released In $2,500 Bail

Alvin Black of 318 Mill street, Poughkeepsie, formerly of Kingston, charged with second degree manslaughter in that he negligently caused the death of 11-year-old Samuel Harrington on April 24, at Poughkeepsie, was released in $2,500 bail Monday afternoon by Judge Arnold. Bail was furnished by one of Black's employers, Timothy MacDonnell. Black's case will be considered by the grand jury.

Black was arrested on a coroner's warrant after the official held an inquest into the death of young Harrington, caused when a car and a truck driven by Black collided and ran into a game of marbles being played on the sidewalk by several boys.

"WAR" IN WASHINGTON.

If Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. Gann have really declared war, entertainment will be furnished observers far beyond the august circle of Washington official society. A struggle for social mastery between such rivals can not fail to enliven a dull season. For each appears to be determined and more or less adequately armed. Mrs. Gann, as the official "hostess" for the Vice-President, has the advantage technically at least, yet the daughter of President Roosevelt and wife of the Speaker of the House is a formidable personage, long an important figure in Washington society, and it is easy to understand her reluctance to yield to an inexperienced but determined newcomer from the West.

As Secretary Stimson has craftily kept out of it and the men in general have been discreetly mum, it is rather surprising to find Washington dispatches attributing to Speaker Longworth the position that the dignity of his office and that of the House are involved in his wife's "refusal to grant precedence" to Mrs. Gann. It is said to be argued that, though by long custom the Vice-President outranks the Speaker, the fact that there is no Vice-President's wife creates a different situation. Whether the House stands for the alleged view of its Speaker is not stated. The Speaker of the House of Commons has held a position of great dignity for centuries, and it is claimed that the Speakership of the House has "gained strength" to the extent of becoming "second only to the Presidency in power," while the office of Vice-President "has stood still." However that may be, there are indications that neither Mrs. Longworth nor Mrs. Gann will consent to stand still, and interesting developments will be looked for.

SMART LAWYER'S BLUNDER.

It may be taken for granted that Harry F. Sinclair does not greatly enjoy the unique distinction of being the first multi-millionaire to go to jail. Neither the prestige of his $100,000,000 nor the big fees he paid his smart lawyer availed to save him, and by this time it is likely that he has reached the conclusion that it is possible for a high-priced lawyer to be a little too smart. For it was on advice of counsel that Mr. Sinclair followed the misguided course that was his undoing—his flat refusal to answer certain questions put to him by a Senate committee—questions he might have answered without serious risk, for the committee got the information it wanted from another source. His lawyer performed the difficult feat of securing his acquittal in jury trials on the charge of fraud and conspiracy in connection with the lease of Teapot Dome, which the United States Supreme Court branded with infamy, then wrongly advised him to commit "contempt of the Senate"—and for this alone he finally lands in jail.

Doubtless Mr. Sinclair now thinks rather bitterly of all those big fees he paid that lawyer during the five years for getting him off in trial after trial, only to go to jail at last for keeping his mouth shut on the same lawyer's advice. Some people are said to hold that such a lawyer ought now to share prison fare with the wealthy client who trusted him too far. It is a safe bet that in the opinion of Mr. Sinclair himself the lawyer alone should go to jail.

THE DECLINING MALE.

A sad prophecy of the future status of the male sex was given at the convention of the Mid-West Society of Physical Education in Chicago. According to a press report: "Speakers pointed out that woman is the athletic member of the modern family, while the men, eschewing vigorous exercise, are steadily becoming enfeebled, anemic and sallow, slowly fading away as they sit in their offices or watch automatic machines in the factory."

Unless something is done about it, one alarmist hinted, a time is coming when men will not even be able to beat their wives any more.

Another speaker suggested a possible safeguard against such deplorable deterioration. The five-hour day and five-day week he thought might save man's physical supremacy by giving him more leisure to go out and play golf.

Still, if we know the sex, that leisure is likely to be spent sitting in American bleachers or playing pinochle in a room full of tobacco smoke.

The Portland vase, for which $142,000 has been offered, is said to be the finest and most beautiful specimen of ancient cameo cut glass in existence. It dates back to the Roman Emperor Alexander Severus, was long the property of the great Barberini family of Italy, was purchased in 1770 by Sir William Hamilton, and was later sold to the Portland family, who allowed it to remain on exhibition in the British Museum for 120 years—but are now in need of the money it can bring.

Late news from Washington indicates that the last has not been heard of the "precedence" question in which Mrs. Gann figured. There are rumors of the "outbreak of a social insurrection of unexampled dimensions."

The "tremendous increase in cigarette smoking in the United States," shown by the published statistics of the Internal Revenue Bureau, may be expected to spur up reformers already eager to put tobacco also on the prohibited list.

The band players who struck up "He's My Boy Friend Now" as Mr. Hoover appeared know that jazz "goes" with the average audience, even if their idea of an appropriate greeting of a President was somewhat nebulous.

CHRONIC APPENDICITIS.

A news item a couple of years ago told of a couple of mining engineers who were going many miles into the interior, far from any doctor or hospital.

In order to take no chances with appendicitis they went into the hospital in their home city and both of them had the appendix removed. As both men were in excellent condition they made a rapid recovery and went on their prospecting trip.

This seems almost like being too cautious but an acute appendix, a couple of hundred of miles from anywhere, would likely result fatally. And yet you perhaps meet folks who tell you that they have chronic appendicitis, and can't make up their mind to undergo an operation.

Now is an operation always necessary in chronic appendicitis, that is where the patient has pains from time to time in the region of the appendix?

Dr. Frank H. Lahey, Boston, tells us that if a patient that never before has had pain in the lower right side of the abdomen—the appendix region—then has a definite attack of acute appendicitis from which he recovers, and then has pain from time to time in that region, it may be assumed that he possibly has chronic appendicitis and operation may be advised with a clear conscience.

Although the X-ray evidence is of value in diagnosing chronic appendicitis, the pain and discomfort, and the tenderness over the appendix, are more important factors.

As you know, by the use of the fluoroscope the appendix may be seen and the physician is able to apply pressure directly over the appendix. If this gives pain the appendix is at fault.

The point then is that because you have occasional pains in the region of the appendix it does not mean that an operation is necessary. If, however, you've had a definite acute attack, and then have a pain in appendix region from time to time, and your doctor recommends an operation, you would be well to take his advice.

Climatic Changes

Geologists are of the opinion that the ice periods of the earth have consisted of at least four epochs, separated by interglacial epochs, during which the climate became mild. It is possible that during these interglacial epochs the climate of Alaska and the North Polar regions was decidedly warm.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: Nathan Hyde, antique dealer, [illegible] claims that the famous Alex Peterson revolver, which he sold to John Peebles, was brought to him by Furie, who visited Andrew Ogden a few hours before Ogden was slain. Hyde then reveals the startling fact that Ogden had demanded to know what he had done with the weapon.

A coroner's jury charges the fugitive Jerry with killing his father. Henry Deacon, chief of police, makes an amazing discovery—another Peterson revolver, gold-mounted and loaded with gold bullets—in Ogden's desk.

Chapter 15

SHADOWS OF OGDEN'S PAST

I SCARCELY heard what MacNair said. Deacon's discovery had astonished me less than it had shocked my moral sense, for all day the trend of the evidence had been towards the conclusion implied by the finding of the pistol in Ogden's room.

"You have given us another fact to build a theory on, Deacon," he was saying. "A fact hard and square, fast and real."

"The theory?" Henry demanded, bluntly.

"Very well," MacNair began. "Consider the facts. This man Furie calls on Hyde yesterday afternoon. Hubbard overhears Ogden shout the two words 'gold bullets.' Furie leaves. Ogden telephones Peebles and is stabbed as he sits at the instrument. Incidentally, Ogden has a card left at my house asking me to call.

"During the afternoon Peebles buys a gold-mounted pistol from Nathan Hyde. Early this morning Peebles' house is entered by a man who is after the pistol. One of the gold bullet-loaded cartridges of the pistol is found to contain a message from a man named 'Jerry.' The message was written in 1896 and it accuses one James Dillon of murder. Later on, we find evidence that leads us to believe Ogden has been paying Dillon blackmail for 26 years. It also turns out that Ogden desperately wanted this gold-mounted pistol himself. Hyde, it appears, bought it from this man Furie who called on Ogden. We also find in Ogden's safe 26 poker chips and a deck of cards. Ogden was known to be prejudiced against card-playing.

"Why should Ogden have been paying Dillon blackmail for 26 years? Why should Ogden want this gold-mounted pistol? Our feeling that he was not the man the community supposed him to be, becomes certainty. And now we have your discovery, Deacon, of this other gold-mounted pistol in Ogden's room."

He paused.

"I venture to say," he went on, "that Alex Peterson, swashbuckler and gambler, and Andrew Ogden, our late exemplary citizen, and builder of San Felipe were one and the same man."

Again he paused.

"I suggest, furthermore," MacNair continued ruthlessly, "that Dillon blackmailed Ogden because of something that happened when Ogden was Alex Peterson; that the man 'Jerry' was a close relation—a brother, perhaps—or close friend of Peterson's (so close, in fact, that Ogden called his own son after him); and that the poker chips and the deck of cards symbolize the indiscretion for which Ogden was blackmailed."

"Sounds reasonable," Deacon growled.

MacNair bowed ironically. "By the way," he resumed. "I wonder if either of you have forgotten the so-called legend of the 'poker game that cracked the town'?"

I jumped at this. "You mean that fool yarn about Peterson playing poker for a human life?" I stormed.

"My dear Watson! I was merely dropping a seed into the ground made fertile by our recent discoveries. If that poker game should prove to be a fact it might have had something to do with Ogden's death."

"It isn't a fact," I said doggedly. But I wasn't so sure, for he had carried me along with the sweep of his logic. "What about those pieces of quartz?" I demanded. "There should be motive enough for you."

"I was coming to them. One specimen was in Ogden's desk; the other was in Hyde's. I believe Furie could tell us something about them. At any rate, they bring Hyde into the affair—this lawyer, Roy Hammond, too, perhaps. For all I know Hyde may be Dillon, but it doesn't follow because Dillon blackmailed Ogden that he also killed him. But to return to the quartz. You told me something about this 'Two Brothers' mine of Ogden's. I wonder why Ogden called it the 'Two Brothers.' You said young Jerry wanted to open the mine and that Ogden refused to let him touch it. Interesting situation, don't you think?"

"You are trying to build their difference of opinion into a motive!" I charged.

MacNair grinned. "Don't fume so, Peebles. The cost of mining gold has gone down, but for this reason Ogden should have let his son open the mine unless he had a better reason for keeping it closed. He doesn't seem to have given the boy the real reason."

Henry nodded. "It looks that way to me."

"Now take these specimens of gold-bearing ore," MacNair went on. "Suppose they came from the 'Two Brothers'—perhaps from a new vein Ogden didn't know of—"

"That won't do," I objected. "The mine is closed. Half the mountainside slid down in front of it years ago."

"There may be an exposed vein somewhere. Let us assume Jerry found it. Naturally, he would want to exploit his discovery. His father refuses to let him touch it and gives him no adequate reason for doing so. They become angry. Anger turns to rage and, well—there you are."

"Yes!" I exploded. "Nowhere at all. In the first place, if these two specimens came from a new vein in the 'Two Brothers,' Hyde, also, knows of that vein; in the second place, you yourself expressed the opinion that Furie was an old prospector and that he knew something about the specimens, too; in the third place, you haven't got rid of Dillon yet. I don't see why the greed motive shouldn't be as strongly operative in one man as in another."

"Neither do I," he said, "but unfortunately for your argument, which expresses my point of view so far as it goes, the other evidence implicates young Ogden and not Hyde or Furie. As for Dillon, I'll show you him dead or alive before I'm done. There's Mrs. Lundy, too. Ogden didn't give her her $1,000 for nothing."

His arguments were sound, but before I could reply Deacon spoke.

"There's sense in what he says, John. You might as well admit it. I'm sorry, but I can't get it out of my head that the boy did it. He may have come to blows with Andrew about the mine."

"He wouldn't have stabbed his father in the back while he sat at the telephone!" I retorted indignantly. "Get your hands on James Dillon and you'll have Ogden's murderer, Henry. And don't forget that Polyandria marked your man."

2 OUTSTANDING ADVANTAGES

ALL THE MECHANISM IS ON TOP

THE CABINET IS ALL-STEEL

OF the many advantages of General Electric Refrigerators, two are especially vital—the hermetically sealed, on-top mechanism and the all-steel warp-proof cabinet.

The mechanism in any electric refrigerator has but one purpose—to absorb heat from the food. It must be permitted to radiate that heat rapidly just as heat is conducted away from the engine of your car. As heat naturally rises, it can be radiated from the top of the refrigerator. To place the radiating coils anywhere else cuts down their efficiency and increases the cost of operation. And now has been added the new all-steel cabinet. Built like a safe, it can't warp—it operates on the least amount of current—its doors always retain their perfect fit which shuts out heat. Available in six sizes at prices surprisingly low. The small family size is but $215, at the factory. Sold on convenient time payments.

SLIM ONE—"KIN YAMAGIN' DOIN' THAT STUNT EVERY NIGHT, MRS. BROOKS?"

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

HEAVEN

CONSIDERABLE newspaper space was recently given to a description of heaven furnished by a college professor who during an automobile wreck, in which his wife was killed, believed that he saw the celestial city and conversed with a white-haired and long-bearded man whom he took to be Saint Peter.

There has been considerable discussion by specialists in mental conditions and students of psychology as to what caused the professor to so sincerely believe that he had viewed the locality of post-mortem existence.

The majority conclusion seems to be that the professor as a result of the accident lost consciousness, but that just before his powers of reason lapsed he was impressed with the thought that his wife had been mortally injured and that in that mysterious part of his mind, which goes on working after voluntary thought has ceased, the doctor constructed, to the point of what seemed reality to him, the golden city which he later fully described.

The professor is not the first to have visited heaven and to have furnished a description of what he saw.

Mahomet wrote of seven different heavens which he visited, mounting to their heights on his steed, Al Borak, furnished him by Gabriel. This animal has the face of a man, the wings of an eagle and the body of a horse, with cloven hoofs, and he spoke high-class Arabic.

The territories visited by Mahomet comprised seven areas and he saw beings there with faces so large that it was a day's journey from one eye to the other. He heard choruses of music participated in by millions of voices and the distances which he traveled were quite beyond comprehension.

You will say that such a story is foolish, but there are 227,000,000 followers of Mahomet who believe all that he wrote and that he really saw all that he says he saw.

Confucius, whose followers number more than 300,000,000, left for his believers no very definite idea of the hereafter or where or how it would be spent.

Christians who number about 600,000,000 accept the Book of Revelation and the vision of St. John as the only definite description of what heaven is to be like.

But is heaven, after all, a place?

Are not the pearly gates and the golden streets of St. John and the vast expanses of Mahomet only symbols intended to express the satisfaction of spiritual aspiration in terms of material things and glories?

Would we after all find great satisfaction in forever walking on precious metal or viewing a continuous exposition of flashing jewels?

Is not the surest heaven after all in our hearts?

There are moments in the life of every man and woman when the soul knows ecstasies to which there is no limit, happiness which is without bounds. Could there be a more real heaven than those moments provide?

And if the afterlife can be filled with such delights do we need to have it embellished with trappings of gold and silver or decorated other than with the sweet and good thoughts which have made even this side of the grave seem for a moment like Elysium?

Is not heaven after all only another name for happiness?

CAKES AND COOKIES

THE small cake is so much liked for teas, luncheons and, some kinds for the children's parties, that the following may be found helpful in planning for various occasions:

Toasted Coconut Balls.

Take one-half cupful of shortening, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, cream well. Sift two and one-half cupfuls of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Add to the creamed butter and sugar with one cupful of water very gradually. When well blended add the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Bake in small muffin pans in a moderate oven. When cool cover with a powdered sugar icing, holding the cakes on a toothpick or small skewer. Now roll in coconut and place on a baking sheet to brown under the broiler, turning until well browned all over. The following quick icing is used for the above cakes:

Quick Icing.

Take one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of cream of tartar, six tablespoonfuls of water and two egg whites. Put all the ingredients into a double boiler and have the water in the under part boiling. Beat until the mixture is fluffy. Remove from the heat and continue beating until cold.

Ice Box Cookies.

Take one cupful each of brown and white sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of softened shortening, one cupful of chopped nuts, three well beaten eggs, one teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of cinnamon or other mixed spices, one-half teaspoonful of salt, sift thoroughly with five cupfuls of pastry flour and roll into small rolls. Place on ice over night. In the morning slice very thin and bake in a quick oven.

Celery Paste Salad.

Take equal parts of tart apple and hearts of celery and half the quantity of green or red sweet pepper and mince the whole finely. Make a paste combining chopped dates, raisins and cream cheese, or a bit of apple butter. Serve the short stalks of celery filled with this mixture.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, May 15 (AP).—State Department of Agriculture and Markets—Liberal supplies combined with rainy weather during the early hours resulted in a poor demand for strawberries today and prices tended downward. Wholesale business was within the price range of 5-20c per quart basket. Most sales, however, were made at 10-15c. Supplies were drawn from North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and Arkansas.

During the preceding week the shipments of strawberries in carlots for the entire country totaled 2,182 cars, compared with 1,899 the week before.

With arrivals of California cherries in carlots, prices declined 50-75c a box over the previous day's sales. Several thousand boxes of Chapman cherries sold at auction at $2.60-$19.12½, chiefly $3.50-$4.50 a box of eight pounds. Burbank cherries realized $3.20-$4.62½.

Western New York Baldwin apple prices advanced again. Receipts were light and the demand moderate. Barried United States grade No. 1, 2½-inch offerings commanded $5.50-$7.

On May 1 the cold storage holdings of apples throughout the country amounted to 2,231,000 boxes, 588,000 bushel baskets and 317,000 barrels. On the same date a year ago holdings totaled 2,889,000 boxes, 469,000 bushel baskets and 262,000 barrels.

Supplies of New Jersey Big Boston lettuce are gradually increasing in volume and improving in quality. The demand was fairly active on good stock with the undertone of the market steady to firm. Crates of 24 heads jobbed out at $2.00-3.00. New Jersey lettuce is available on this market from April to June and again in October and November.

The condition of peaches in 10 southern states from North Carolina southward to Florida and westward to Oklahoma and Texas, declined to about 67 per cent of normal on May 1, compared with 74 per cent last year, 43 per cent in 1927, and 57 per cent in 1926.

Matters Before The Surrogate

In the surrogate's court, on petition of Richard B. Bevier, letters of administration with the will annexed of the goods, chattels and credits left unadministered amounting to not more than $3,500 of Richard B. Dego of Wallkill, town of Shawangunk, have been granted petitioner. Mr. Dego died in 1915, the will was probated and James H. Bevier, who was named as executor, died in 1915. The petition to administer the residue with will annexed is made so that remainder amounts can be turned over to parties entitled thereto. R. T. Hume is attorney for petitioner.

Call Conference On Farm Relief

Washington, May 15 (AP).—An impasse between the senate and house on farm relief has developed by inclusion of the export debenture provision in the senate bill and a conference of Republican leaders of the two branches to study means of procedure has been called for late today.

The measure was passed by the senate late yesterday, 54 to 33, despite the indication that administration supporters in the house would move to have it sent back on the ground that the debenture section, which President Hoover opposes, is revenue legislation and as such can be initiated only in their chamber.

As a protest against the debenture section and giving assurance to the house that it did not command a large majority, 31 administration supporters in the senate voted against the measure on the final ballot. They were joined by two Democrats who oppose the plan, Wagner of New York, and Walsh of Massachusetts, although nine senators who voted against the debenture section cast their ballots for the bill.

Except for the debenture section, the bills passed by the senate and house differ only in details, which a joint conference committee would be expected to adjust with little difficulty.

Concert by High School Students

On the evening of Friday, June 7, a concert of especial interest will be given at the high school auditorium by the members of the Girls' Choral Club, the Boys' Glee Club and the High School Orchestra, under the direction of Leonard Stine, supervisor of music in the Kingston schools. With seventy-five members of the Choral Club and forty members of the Glee Club and an orchestra of more than fifty pieces, it will be possible for the young people to give a much more ambitious program than in the past. The Hallelujah Chorus from the Messiah will be given by the choral clubs and the orchestra and the orchestra will play the entire overture to "Martha." For weeks the young people have been preparing for this event and will be able to give their friends a real musical treat.

A Cafeteria Supper.

The Westminster Guild of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will serve a cafeteria supper in the chapel of the church on Wednesday evening, May 22, at 5:30 o'clock. The proceeds will be used to send delegates to a summer conference. The menu will consist of boiled ham, scalloped potatoes, baked beans, macaroni and cheese, potato salad, deviled eggs, vegetable salad, strawberry shortcake, ice cream, cake, tea, coffee and cocoa.

Lindbergh Light Brighter Than Sun

Chicago, May 15 (AP).—The world's most powerful aerial beacon, brighter even than the sun, according to its inventor, will be installed atop the new 37-story Palm Olive building. Final authorization for the light was sought of the city council today.

The beacon will have a two billion candle-power light and will be visible as far as 500 miles away, Elmer Sperry, its inventor, has promised. Sperry has offered to donate the beacon in honor of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and it will be named in honor of that flier.

The beacon will be mounted on a 135-foot tower surmounting the 37 stories of the building, placing it 600 feet from the ground, the highest point in the city.

Airplanes flying over Cleveland, Minneapolis, Omaha, Kansas City, Memphis, Pittsburgh, and other cities as far distant as those, it is claimed, will be in the rays of "Lindbergh Light."

Trustees Rebuke Faculty Supporter

Buffalo, May 15 (AP).—The Rev. Miner, a trustee of Des Moines University, and supporter of the faculty in the fight at the school, was rebuked today in a resolution passed by the trustees, here to attend the convention of the Baptist Bible Union of North America.

Mr. Stevens "does not in any sense represent the judgment of the board" the trustees voted. He is representing the ousted president and faculty of the university. The Rev. T. T. Shields, president of the board and the Bible union, was responsible for the ouster, in his efforts to change the school "from a liberal to a Christian institution."

Possibility that either the union convention or the board of trustees would demand an inquiry of the mayor of Des Moines and the governor of Iowa regarding reported lack of police protection during disturbances on the campus developed during today's convention session.

Night And Day Line Steamers

With the starting of the boats of the Hudson River Night Line today and the Hudson River Day Line steamers on Friday, navigation on the Hudson river will be in full swing for the season. This evening the Hudson River Night Line inaugurates a daily passenger and freight service from Catskill to New York.

Strawberry Short Cake Supper.

On Friday evening, May 17, the Missionary Society of the Franklin street A. M. E. Zion Church will hold a strawberry short cake supper at the residence of the president, 76 Liberty street. A large attendance is expected.

GAS BUGGIES—Enter Trouble.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception from the Big Five—WGY, WJZ, WOR, WEAF and WLW were perfect Tuesday evening. Even WGY failed to tangle up in its own net and local interference was confined to a short period of buzzing. Western stations were generally weak or not heard at all, but CNRA at Moncton was strong and clear.

Evidently WGY is doing some new stunt, possibly television without the usual noise. For several evenings it has had at times a hum all its own, apparently made at the station, as it cannot be heard from any other place.

Why does an aerial adjustment that doubles the volume of WEAF and WGY weaken all other stations and completely eliminate WJZ. Add one more to the mysteries of radio.

"Put on Your Old Red Flannels and Lay Away Your BVD's" is the title and exhortation of a wonderfully instructive new song on one of the programs.

Chief Kee-Too-Che-Kay-Wee-Okenow, of the Star Blanket Band of Cree Indians, from File Hills Reservation, near Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, will be at the conductor's desk when John Philip Sousa's internationally known band plays its third radio concert Monday night, May 20, for the guests of the General Motors Family Party of which Cadillac is host. The name of the conductor in the Cree language means "The Great Music Chief". It is considered appropriate that he appear as director of the concert this evening because of the association of his tribesmen ancestors with the famous explorer, Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac.

Sprightly, brilliant orchestral music, life shafts of summer sunshine, and ballads of love and tenderness will form the program of the Atwater Kent Orchestra under Josef Pasternack's direction, and dominate the vocal efforts of Max Bloch, Metropolitan Opera tenor, in the Atwater Kent House Sunday, May 19.

With a gala program, an all star cast of twenty musical headliners and four great orchestras, the Victor Talking Machine Company will present what is perhaps the most pretentious microphone entertainment ever put on the air on Friday evening, May 24. The list of performers is made up exclusively of Victor artists whose records as well as their public appearances have made their names household words throughout the world.

College songs, handed down from generation to generation of undergraduates, comprise the Songalogue which will be offered by Dr. Sigmund Spaeth and the Old Company Singers on Sunday, May 19, over WEAF and associated NBC stations at 7 p. m.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, May 15.—The Ladies' Aid of the Reformed Church will hold a food sale in the old post office building on Saturday, May 18, beginning at 10 o'clock standard time. Cake, biscuits, pie and homemade bread will be on sale. Everyone's patronage will be appreciated.

Thursday evening will be ladies' night at the Men's Community Club. The meeting will take place in the Reformed Church basement. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

Every member of the choir of the Reformed Church is urged to be present at the weekly practice to be held at the parsonage on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The P.-T. A. will meet at the school house on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The annual election of officers will take place and every member is urged to be present.

Morning worship at the Reformed Church at 10:30 o'clock. "A Message of Good Cheer" is the theme chosen by the pastor. The Sunday school will meet at 11:45 o'clock under the leadership of L. D. Sahler. C. E. at 7 o'clock to discuss the topic "Why is Jesus the World's Greatest Leader?" Miss Millie Beattie will be in charge.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hornbeck extend their sympathy because of the death of their mother, Mrs. H. Winchel.

SLEEP WITHOUT DRUGS SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST

Former Battle Creek Sanitarium Physician States Amazing Flaxolyn Discovery Relieves Constipation Condition Naturally and Brings Sound, Restful Sleep by Perfecting Digestion—Whelan Drug Stores Feature Flaxolyn.

Thousands of people here who formerly suffered nights of sleeplessness and days of agonizing stomach distress due to constipation, now feel fit, eat with keen appetites and sleep serenely since taking Nature's own formula, Dr. Lunta's Herbal Flaxolyn.

According to the statement issued by Dr. A. W. Herr, formerly physician at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, "Flaxolyn relieves in a natural way that dreaded condition called constipation. In many cases where autointoxication prevented sleep, the use of Flaxolyn has been the means of so cleansing the colon that natural sleep is now the usual thing and life has taken on a different meaning for these people."

Dr. Geo. Starr White, prominent Los Angeles health writer, and specialist, aroused kidney and stomach sufferers by taking an open stand in praise of Flaxolyn when he said last week, "I know of no remedy that can equal Herbal Flaxolyn as a corrective for chronic conditions of the bladder and kidneys—no more natural formula for 'self poisoning' due to constipation."

Dr. Benedict Lust, (M. D., N. D.), president of the American Naturopathic Association, says: "Flaxolyn is a natural food-laxative and priceless in all digestive ills." That is the unique feature of Flaxolyn—it is a remarkable

Tonic-Laxative, Not a 'DRUG'

Hundreds of other doctors and health sanatoriums all over the world have used Flaxolyn in the treatment of such symptoms as dizzy spells, liver disorders, indigestion, sleepless nights, kidney and bladder troubles and have already written in praise of Flaxolyn.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn today. Does not gripe, because it is a natural food. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, a new grip on life.

Diet Advice Free

Any of the stores selling Flaxolyn will gladly supply you with Dr. Lunta's Rules of Health, on the purchase of a package. A large box containing many treatments costs $1. Sent postpaid, if you cannot call in person.

Free diet and health suggestions may also be obtained from Dr. Lunta personally. His address appears on the package.

Would you —

Not if you knew the facts—you wouldn't.

—Not if you stopped to consider that De Soto is the only Chrysler-built six whose entire price range falls below $1000.

—Not if you understood and fully appreciated that the designers of De Soto Six are the identical group of engineers who created the first, and all subsequent Chrysler motor cars. The inference is plain and unmistakable.

—Not if you knew that the Chrysler principle of Standardised Quality continually operates to endow De Soto Six with features that enhance safety and comfort, and confer a performance ability comparable only with costlier cars.

—Not if you bore in mind that, as a product of Chrysler Motors, De Soto Six shares all the advantages of a common policy of engineering, purchasing, manufacturing and financing—and plainly reflects these advantages in the value it offers.

—Not if you followed the obvious and sensible plan of safeguarding your investment by permitting us to put a De Soto Six at your disposal long enough for you to prove to yourself that it represents a greater value at its price range than you could obtain from any other source.

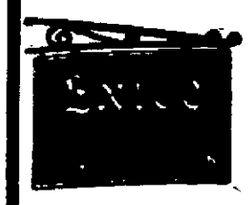
Daily Thought

You find yourself refreshed by the presence of cheerful people; why not make earnest effort to confer that pleasure on others?—L. M. Child.



This sign is on our place of business. We sell the Exide, made by The Electric Storage Battery Co., but we cheerfully service all makes.

To WIVES whose husbands always put things off

THIS advertisement is addressed to those long-suffering wives who know from experience that "the best way to get a thing done is to do it yourself."

Getting a husband to mail a letter is child's play compared to making him remember to have the battery in the car inspected regularly. But at this time of the year, when you're making long trips and doing plenty of night driving, it's highly important to always keep your battery in A-1 condition.

So here's our suggestion: Why not put the Exide Service Station on your shopping list and drive in at least once every two weeks so that we can look your battery over?

Tony Sarg Puppets Here on Friday

Tony Sarg's Marionettes, under the auspices of the Junior League, will be the attraction in the auditorium of the Kingston High School on Friday afternoon and evening, May 17. The afternoon program, which starts at 2:45 o'clock, will feature "The Spanish Fiesta" while the evening performance at 8:15 o'clock will feature "The Adventures of Christopher Columbus."

For the production to be shown here sixty puppets are required. These are operated by a company of actors and professional musicians, utilizing ten thousand feet of string and wire for the manipulation, carrying a complete stage with reduced footlights, spot lights, borders and flood lights effects.

The afternoon performance is a special show for the children who will be delighted and amused by the Marionettes. The adventures of Columbus will show new scenes and characters, all with the financial imagery that is known only by the Marionette actors. There will be Indians, pirates, mariners, courtiers and animals.

Tony Sarg's Marionettes are a Broadway feature. Each season for twelve years they have been shown at some New York theatre, this year at the Lucille La Verne Theatre. They also appear frequently in other Broadway productions, having been in the Greenwich Follies and with Fred Stone. They are an important feature of "The Jealous Moon," the new play presented by Jane Cowl at the Majestic Theatre in New York.

RADIUM BENEFITS ARE EXAGGERATED

Mayo Clinic Physician Tells of Its Value.

Rochester, Minn.—Although its use probably never will give the greatly exaggerated results credited in early investigations, radium has taken a definite place in the field of medicine and has proved of infinite value in the treatment of many diseases, according to Dr. Harry H. Bowen of the Mayo clinic here.

Understanding of the limitations of radium treatment and co-operation between the surgeon, the roentgenologist and the radiologist promise to bring about great advances in use of radium, Doctor Bowen said. The public should be educated, he declared, that radium is of great value in treating some ailments but cannot be regarded as a "cure all."

Since Mme. Curie announced in 1898 the discovery of a substance she called "Polonium," intensive investigation has revealed more about the nature of radium than is known about any other element, the Rochester physician said. In the later and more important developments he classed its increased use in interial treatment.

"Radium can be enclosed in small sealed glass tubes and inserted into the deeper tissues where its therapeutic rays may reach the affected areas," he explained.

Discovery of the therapeutic or ray giving properties of radium is credited to Becquerel, who found that the skin near a coat pocket in which a container of the substance was carried became irritated after a few hours. His investigations following this discovery were the beginning of radiumtherapy.

"The scarcity of radium has to a great extent curtailed its development and use," Doctor Bowen said. Its value he explained, is $70,000 a gram.

"Radium as a therapeutic substance is an ideal preparation. Its energy is liberated at a constant rate and no way ever has been found to alter the process. Neither heating nor cooling will change the rate of its disintegration."

Its intensity is regulated by the distance it is placed from the area to be treated. As the space intervening between the radium and the skin is increased so the "strength of the radium lessens," Doctor Bowen said.

Owing to the large initial cost, Doctor Bowen said, radiumtherapy must for the present be limited to a small number of treatment stations located at medical centers.

"Should all the patients who might be helped by radium apply today for treatment there would not be sufficient radium at hand or enough trained workers available to care for them."

Vanished Race Leaves Odd Pictures in Caves

Boise City, Okla.—Carved on cave and canyon walls in the Oklahoma panhandle is the pictorial record of a vanished race, the Faraone Indians.

The pictographs are described by Alfred B. Thomas, history instructor at the University of Oklahoma, as unlike any other known Indian art. They are found only in a restricted area of the Oklahoma and Texas panhandle and in southern Colorado.

Animals now extinct are depicted by the Indians' rock carvings. Foundations of palisaded stone and timber houses once occupied by the Faraones still are found, but efforts to trace the history of the race have been futile.

Superimposed on the Indian carvings are more recent engravings telling of Spanish and Mexican occupation and the visits of such American adventurers as Kit Carson.

American Gold Dollar to Be Czech Standard

Prague.—The American gold dollar will shortly become the monetary standard of Czechoslovakia, the government announced recently. The dollar will be used as a standard with the present Czechoslovakia crown convertible into gold on demand. Adoption of the gold standard would involve no increase in prices or in cost of living, it was said. (The present value of the Czechoslovakian crown is about 2.96 cents).

Tough for Trudie

New York.—The worst part of Gertrude Ederle's deafness, as she explains it, "is that I can't hear the nice things my beau says to me unless he shouts, so we have absolutely no privacy." She is to avoid swimming and try airplane flights in an effort for a cure.

A "Grand and Glorious Feeling"

Tune in on the OLD COMPANY'S SINGERS with SIGMUND SPAETH Sunday Evening at 7 P. M. Eastern Daylight Time, 6 P. M. Standard Time WEAF and Associated Stations

THE man who has his Winter's coal in—bought at the low Spring price—is justified in some self-congratulation.

He has saved money. In fact, he has made his coal investment pay better than bank-interest.

He is freed from the necessity of keeping one eye on the calendar and the other on the thermometer, as the cool autumn days approach.

His family is protected against the illnesses that may result from the combination of an early cold-wave and an unheated house.

Finally, he has given his dealer a fair chance to deliver his coal as the dealer wants to deliver it—promptly, carefully and free from snow and ice.

And if he has bought Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite he finds himself with a further reason for his satisfaction.

For this grand old fuel, with a hundred years of unfailing heat-service behind it, assures him of steady, easily controlled warmth, with a minimum of attention to his heater.

Taxiing Around The Airports

Minneapolis has completed plans for a $450,000 improvement development of the municipal airport. Work will be completed by mid-summer, according to present plans. Officials in charge are carrying out the work to ultimately qualify the airport for an A-1-A rating, the highest given by the department of commerce.

The Pittsburgh Aircraft agency corporation is preparing to develop a large commercial airport about 27 miles north of Pittsburgh and adjacent to the town of Butler. Plans call for development of 610 acres with runways of from 4,000 to 6,000 feet. A school will be operated from the airport and the operation of an air line between Pittsburgh and Washington is under consideration.

Rochester, N. Y., has a new rotating beacon installed by a tire company to aid fliers. It is a standard 24-inch 7,000,000 candle power unit which makes two revolutions per minute. An auxiliary searchlight has been erected to project a shaft of light in the direction of the Rochester municipal airport. The installation has been certified as an aid to navigation by the department of commerce and is operated from dusk to dawn nightly.

The beacon atop the Lowry National Bank building in Atlanta has been re-certified by the department of commerce for operation. The installation consists of a standard 2,000,000-candle power rotating beacon with a fixed shaft of light pointing toward Candler field, the municipal airport.

Allentown, Pa., is considering the acquisition of the department of commerce intermediate field located near that city. A study is under way to determine the possibilities for expanding the field to make it eligible for a high federal airport rating. The city proposes to raise the necessary funds for improvement of the field through a bond issue, submitted to the voters.

The airways division of the department of commerce will start a survey of the Pittsburgh-Cleveland airway soon for the installation of navigation aids.

The department of commerce has discontinued operation of the Belleville, N. J., airway beacon on the New York-Boston mail airway. Owing to the congested nature of the surrounding district and the flood of competing lights, the beacon was found to be ineffective.

Broadway Lady Tells Of Relief Obtained By Using Nu-Erb

Splendid Results Obtained in Case of Stomach, Kidney and Liver Disorders.

"Since using Nu-Erb for a few weeks, I can easily understand why so many Kingston men and women are recommending and talking about this medicine," said Mrs. Florence Pratt, 60 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y., in a recent statement to the Nu-Erb specialist at McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall Street.

"For more than twenty years, I have suffered from stomach, kidney and liver troubles which have caused me no end of misery and suffering. I cannot remember when I was able to eat a full meal without worrying about the after effects, for even though I lived on only the lightest of foods, I suffered from indigestion, sourness and heartburn. I'd get dizzy spells and sick bilious attacks. My nerves were in a weakened, rundown condition and rheumatism settled in my joints causing them to become stiff and sore.

"Although I have only been using the Nu-Erb a few weeks, these troubles have practically all disappeared and for the first time in years, I can eat most anything I want without having any pain or distress afterward. The pains have left my back and the rheumatic aches and pains have been relieved so that I have practically no trouble in that way. Nu-Erb has also strengthened my nerves and put an end to those sickening dizzy spells and bilious attacks. I feel that I cannot say anything that would praise this medicine highly enough and I am very grateful for what it has done for me."

THE NU-ERB MAN.

Dr. French's Nu-Erb cleanses the system of poisonous waste matter and restores the digestive organs to a healthy action. It strengthens weak kidneys, quiets the nerves, drives poisons from the system which cause rheumatism and arthritis and banishes headaches, biliousness and constipation. It is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall St., is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now located there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Intense Activity Shown in Reports

months has shown some decline due to a multiplicity of reasons. However, the game rooms, the various activities of the Association such as the billiard, pocket billiard, ping pong, chess, checkers and other tournaments have been well attended. There has been an unusual amount of sickness in the community which kept a large number of boys from participating in the activities.

Religious:

From January 9 until April 18, every Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock a supper and Bible Study group was held. These suppers were well attended, and the volunteer work done by the teachers was splendid. The boys were given a historical background of the Bible and the characters were made real and life like to them.

Social:

The socials during the past few months have been most successful. On the various holidays such as Christmas, New Years, Easter and others, the open house has attracted at different times from 350 to 400 boys. This has been a distinct social service piece of work.

Educational:

The Educational program has consisted this year of various stereopticon lectures and lectures on subjects the boys are interested in such as Astronomy, Nature and Animals, etc.

Extension:

The boys' secretary has rendered his services to many organizations in entertainment. He has also helped in various activies, such as community dramatics, concerts, and done some social service work in Kingston homes.

This part of our work was instituted October 6, 1928, at a meeting held in the local building when nine communities were represented by interested men, met to consider the project of expansion by the Y. M. C. A. of Kingston.

To date, under the leadership of George Lowe, who was elected chairman of the division, and the field secretary, many and varied activities have been carried on, such as Older Boys' Conferences, organizing of Hi-Y Clubs, County Basketball Tournament with six high schools participating, a winter camp at Glenerie during the Christmas holidays. The Hi-Y Deputation Team conducted fifteen meetings, speaking to 2,665 people.

Numerous meetings by committees were held to formulate policies and plans of the work for the future. The six months in which this part of our new work has been in operation justifies the efforts to carry on a larger program.

The Ministerial Association of Kingston was entertained by the Y. A group of the Eastern Star of Catskill spent an afternoon.

Recognition.

The Kingston Daily Freeman and the Kingston Daily Leader have been a mighty influence in the carrying out our program for which the association is more than thankful.

The ministers of the different churches, both Protestant and Catholic, have cooperated with the efforts that were put forth.

The teachers of the public schools, the students of the high school and grade schools helped to make it possible for our success.

The Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs aided worthy boys and made it possible for them to participate in the activities.

The Ladies' Auxiliaries with their untiring efforts deserve a tremendous amount of credit.

The board of directors and various committees made it possible for the association to succeed.

Our sincere thanks are hereby expressed to all of the above and the many other individuals and groups that really gave part of their all that the association might move ahead.

JOHN C. PORTER,
General Secretary.

RIFTON AND ROCK SCHOOL PUPILS ENTERTAINMENT

After the operetta Superintendent Gillette gave a short address in which he complimented the children upon the splendid way they had rendered their parts. He also stated that he felt sure that any time the childen had spent on the entertainment had not been wasted as they had received training which enabled them to get up before an audience and speak.

He also spoke of the wonderful cooperation between school districts 7 and 9 and the people of the community which was shown by the great number of people that was present in the hall.

Then came a dialogue, Dr. Ray's Patients, by David Ashcraft, Mildred Card, Henry Salmi, Clifford Christiana and Edward Balfe. Duet, Aunt Melissa's Beau, Emily Buzdygan and Leroy Davis. Blouse and Skirt Should Not Match

One of the most striking characteristics of the season is the unexpectedness of the blouse with which the tailleur or ensemble is completed, advises a fashion writer in the Kansas City Star. That the blouse should not match the skirt—or coat, is an accepted idea. That it should strike an unexpected note, is to be desired. To this end we have navy suits with chartreuse blouses, black ones with turquoise blue, or any high colors, or white.

The practice of introducing the suit color on the blouse, by way of binding, let us say, is now more general than employing another color and ignoring the suit. Blouses whether of the tuck-in or over blouse persuasion have gone feminine. The tailored touch is avoided, and soft bows or some such arrangement are introduced at the neckline. Jabots, and all manner of self-trimming details are used. Vionnet is responsible possibly for the use of diagonal and other tuck and plait arrangements, this form of decoration being much in vogue.

The use of printed crepe, and the use of organdie and handkerchief linen must be mentioned among the most desirable blouse materials. The sleeveless blouse merits serious consideration. It is a most useful member of society, completing the suit or ensemble satisfactorily and contributing a very dressy effect on the removal of the jacket. Although this is true, the sleeveless blouse is not taboo in sports circles, where the sleeveless dress is heartily welcomed because of its practicability and also because of its help in enabling the wearer to acquire the coveted coat or tan.

Chanel Features Scarf With Beige Jersey Suit With Blue Blouse.

There is always a soft spot in the hearts of smart women for knitted suits. It is true they approve them only for travel and for so-called sports wear, but this field is one in which women of leisure spend many happy hours, and are determined to be dressed as attractively as possible.

Tricot fabrics have become the backbone of sports wear, and the cardigan costume as well as the sweater are accepted everywhere women are assembled for outdoor pleasures.

The three-quarter coat is a sports entry, although it is the cardigan and short jacket suit which is most representative of the season. Sports costumes are, however, so frequently in three or even four sections that one may include a topcoat even in an ensemble already completed by a coat or cardigan.

Restaurant Dresses Also Serve as Dancing Frocks

Though a great deal of importance and fullness must be given to the skirt portion of the dinner dress, one must not lose sight of the fact that most of the time restaurant dresses must also serve as dancing frocks. If the lower part of the skirt can be made of circular frills, detached wings and panels, one must avoid trains that would not look well if held up on the arm. Circular, flared black or bright-colored taffetas, frills or moire gowns for young women, and frilled pastel nets or chiffons for debutantes, are always very effective. Chiffon dresses, beaded all over a jumper top and placed on a back drooping flared skirt of plain chiffon, are among the smartest dinner dresses of the new season.

Coats Have Circular Collar of Rich Fur

One of the smartest suits prepared for spring is a chic little tailor-made of the softest black broad tail. The cut is slim and straight and the short jacket has a long revere which comes to the natural waist line. It is fastened by a belt of patent leather. Some of the spring coats have huge circular collars of bellmsky or fox.

National Capital Avenues

The names of the states in the Union in 1792 were given to the avenues in the city of Washington. Afterward avenues without names were designated Tennessee, Ohio, Louisiana and Indiana.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Suits Run the Gamut From Grave to Gay.

New York—The little printed costume, whether silk or cotton, is a cool, comfortable and chic costume in which to greet the spring. Twin prints are sometimes united in making such a costume but in other instances, the blouse, so often sleeveless is plain, while the skirt and straight little jacket are as gay as you please. Small motifs are the wisest choice for such ensembles, for this type of costume comes of course under the ensemble classification.

Handkerchief and heavier linens are in line with the feeling this summer for wash fabrics. Handkerchief linen and organdie blouses are used with silk suits as well as those of other materials. One discovers on observing representative crowds, that suits are decidedly in the running. From the mannish tweed suit, to the most frivolous and feminine silk one is a far cry, yet all are meeting with response.

The Little Jacket Costume, in Foulard Print, Pleats Its Skirt in Full Fashion, and the Blouse Is in White Handkerchief Linen. An Effective Touch Is Offered in the Pique Edges at the Collar and Cuffs.

(Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild.)

It has been the habit of well dressed women to invariably wear a fur scarf with their tailleur, but now the feeling seems to be for the suit without the scarf. When fur is omitted, it is natural to wear the collar of the frock or blouse over the coat, a trick in which most of us have become quite out of practice. This is in keeping with the desire on the part of the smart world to add a lightening lingerie touch to both gown and suit. This has been emphasized in all reports of foreign fashions, stress being particularly laid on black with white collar, cuffs, jabots and so on.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Quaint Frock for a Tiny Miss.

6505. This model is unique in its shaping. Deep yoke portions shaped in curves and lengthened at the shoulders to form short sleeve extensions, hold the full skirt portions of the dress. A small vestee or plastron fills the opening above the front portion of the yoke, and is topped by a smart bow below the rolled collar. Crepe de chine with frills and rosettes of organdy is here pictured. Taffeta is also suggested with lace for trimming, or with embroidery.

The pattern for this design is cut in 3 sizes: 2, 4, and 6 years. To make a 4 year size will require ⅞ yard of material 35 inches wide or wider. To trim as illustrated in the large view will require 4½ yards of plaiting (including the rosettes).

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

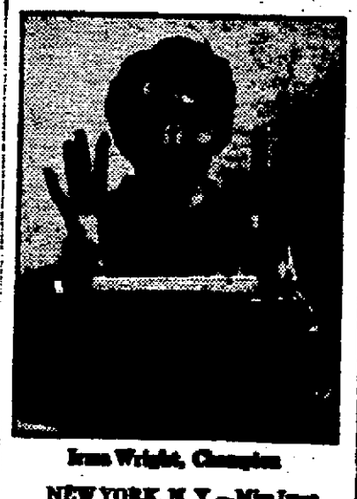
THOUSANDS WATCH HER FAMOUS HANDS



Irma Wright, Champion

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Miss Irma Wright, world's amateur champion typist, demonstrates her speed and methods to audiences all over the country. Since the championship contest last September, huge gatherings in city after city have watched her skilled hands at work.

Her speeding fingers, so smooth and white, never betray the fact that Miss Wright keeps house . . . and washes dishes, too!

"I used to hate dishwashing," she says frankly, "because it left my hands embarrassingly red and so roughened that it reacted on my speed. Of course the soaps I was using were to blame. I knew that the minute I tried Lux in my dishpan. Lux felt entirely different from ordinary soaps. Lux suds were soothing!

"And my hands were whiter and softer after doing the dishes than before! Now I wouldn't think of doing dishes with anything but Lux—Lux makes it so much easier to be both home-maker and champion."

Comparatively New Letter

The letter J is a comparatively late variant of the Latin I. The form J was developed from I during the Middle ages, but it was long used in certain positions in the world without regard to the sound as consonant or vowel. J gradually became differentiated from I in function as well as form, but the separation of J as a consonant and I as a vowel was not fully established until the Seventeenth century.

More Howlers

A business man says that a shortage in any commodity automatically raises its value.—This is doubtless the reason for the high price of evening gowns.

No Standing Still

Progress is essential in this life. But whether it shall be forward or backward is for you to decide. You cannot stand still. This is impossible. The world is only a stairway on which man go either up or down.—Grit.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 15 (AP).—High call money rates again proved an insurmountable barrier to speculators for the advance in today's stock market. Although the recovery in prices, which set in late yesterday, was resumed at the opening of today's market and continued in the face of a renewal rate of 10 per cent for call money, the subsequent advance in the rate to 12 per cent, due to the heavy withdrawals of funds for mid-month disbursement, caused a renewal of selling pressure.

Recent strength of the so-called "Morgan Stocks," particularly General Electric, and the unofficial assurances from Washington that no increase in the New York Federal Reserve Bank was likely this week, tended to revive speculative confidence in the market, which had been badly shaken up by the scarcity of call money. Pools succeeded in marking up about a score of issues to new high levels in the early buying, but the small speculators were reluctant to follow the advance.

The day's trade news continued favorable. A small drop in crude oil production was reported last week. The weekly steel trade reviews indicated that steel consumption was being maintained at high levels. Iron Age states: "The momentum of steel production and demand is a source of surprise to both sellers and buyers. Mills continue to operate virtually at capacity, and, if the rate of output does not equal that of March and April, it is because shutdowns for repairs are more frequent."

Standard Oil of New Jersey declared an extra dividend of 25 cents as against 12½ cents previously, and Prairie Pipe Line declared an extra of 50 cents. Another 25-cent extra also was declared on Sinclair.

Packard was the leader chosen by the bull forces, soaring more than 6 points to 15c⅞, or about 2 points below the record established in January. Chrysler and Marmon each ran up 3 points before the market succumbed to selling pressure.

General Electric, which is expected to split up its stock, moved up 4 points to a new peak at 281 and then slumped to 275. Fidelity-Phenix Insurance, Hershey Chocolate, North American and Frank G. Shattuck all moved into new high ground.

Establishment of a new high record by the Missouri Pacific issues and a drop of 3½ points in Canadian Pacific divided interest in the rail group.

Little Journeys in Americana

By LESTER B. COLBY

Legend of Ampato Sapa

AMPATO SAPA was an Indian maiden. The legend as I find it does not name the others who figured in her romance and her tragedy. The legend, as it has been handed down through generations, finds the name of Ampato sufficient.

In her early years Ampato was not wholly like other girls. She was more beautiful. The Sioux as a tribe are rather stolid. They are not towering in stature and are heavy set as a rule. The women are sturdy and stout burden-bearers. Ampato was not like that.

The legend says that she grew up to be tall and lithe and winsome. Her raven hair was very long and she wore it in thick braids. She danced with the light grace of the antelope in flight and her step was as soft and sure as that of the panther.

Ampato Sapa did her full share of the day's labor but she ended her toil at night time with a smile and a song on her lips. The village loved Ampato. The legend, as it comes to me, does not tell the name of Ampato's father or her mother or of any of the braves who wooed her. Perhaps it is better so. Nor does it tell the name of him who became her husband.

No, the legend is about Ampato and St. Anthony's falls.

These falls are on the Mississippi river in Minnesota. The Indians, when Father Hennepin found the falls, called them "Rara." The word is from Irara, which means "to laugh." Therefore, the name of the Falls of St. Anthony, in the language of the red men, meant laughter.

But the red men say that the laughing waters also weep, each day at sunrise, for Ampato. The story of Ampato was an old story when Hennepin, Franciscan monk of the Recollect order, came upon those falls one October day in 1688—the first white man ever to set eyes upon them.

Hennepin, in his story of their grandeur, estimated that they made a sheer drop of sixty feet. But he told his story too well. A few years later, others who followed him said the waters here fell thirty feet. In time scientific parties came and measured the falls. The drop? Oh, twelve feet.

But a world of water goes over them and the roar is deafening at times. The stream comes as a living torrent. In full flood, it is mighty and impressive.

Well, Ampato Sapa as she grew to womanhood, unfolded like a flower. Her bosoms rounded and it was noted among the Sioux that their fairest daughter had ripened. And any brave that might be her heart's desire she could have for the choice. You see, in this she was not like other girls among the Sioux.

Feats of strength went round. The young men rode ponies in the contests. They painted their faces and bodies in many colors and danced in their finery. I wonder why the legend does not tell the name of the man she chose or by what arts he captured her.

Perhaps he is nameless as a punishment for his sins. Anyway, the legend merely records that he was stronger, swifter, a better hunter and a surer rider than the rest of them. Thus he came to her tent and there stayed and was her's.

It was a happy union. Two babies came to bless them. There was joy in their teepee. Soon other families attached themselves to Ampato's husband. His teepee was the center of a group—which meant that he was recognized as a chief.

Maybe the attentions turned his head. He became ambitious. He desired power. And among the Sioux a chief, if bold, might take on more than one wife. Plurality of wives, in a way, was a distinction. Ampato's husband came home one day with a second wife.

Ampato was sad. She wept. Her husband then, to dry away her tears, told her that this other wife should always be her servant. She should do the heavy work. Ampato would always be his beloved. But Ampato wept on. And the next morning she was gone. Gone, too, were her two children. She had taken them with her.

That winter Ampato spent at a distant village in the wigwam of her father. One early morning in the springtime, when the blood-roots and adder-tongues bloomed in the shadows and the marsh-marigold was aglow in the swamps, Ampato paddled out into the tumbling waters of the Mississippi river—above the falls.

While her village looked on she took her two babies to her bosom and began her death chant. The frail canoe was caught in the torrent. Over the Falls of St. Anthony it plunged—and that was all. She had sacrificed herself and her infants because of the inconstancy of her husband.

And that is why, the ancient legend says, the waters of the Falls of St. Anthony, known as Rara, the laughing waters, cease laughing every day at daybreak and for a time become sobs. So if you ever stand by these falls at dawn and hear the laughter of the waters turn to weeping you will know why. They are sobbing for Ampato, the beautiful girl of the Sioux.

White Plains Has Y's Men's Club

Another thriving Y's Men's Club was added to the rapidly growing movement when Fred L. VanBeusen, lieutenant governor of the eastern district of the state of New York and a member of the Kingston Y's Men's Club, journeyed to White Plains Monday evening and acting as a representative of the International Association of Y's Men presented them with their charter.

Y's Men Dr. Julian I. Gifford, Lester Finley, Tom Rowland and John C. Porter accompanied the lieutenant governor, and as Dr. Gifford, whose reputation as an orator in Y's Men's circles had preceded him, he was called upon during the evening for a few words. The doctor responded in his usual splendid manner and extended the best wishes of the Kingston Club to them. General Secretary John C. Porter was also called upon and he extended his hearty greetings on behalf of the Kingston Y. M. C. A. to the new club.

Representatives were present from the White Plains Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and Exchange clubs, also from the Chamber of Commerce and various other officials.

The affair was a big success in every particular and was held in the fine new Y. M. C. A. building which was just completed this past December and is modern in every particular.

Neal Speaks at Y's Men's Club

The Kingston Y's Men's Club ended their thirteen weeks' attendance competition with the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs Tuesday evening at the "Y" in a blaze of glory by having a one hundred per cent attendance. This is the second one hundred per cent attendance they have had during this contest. There was great rejoicing when Captains Clarence Dumm, Tom Rowland, Clarence Wolfersteig, Arthur Quimby, Stanley Winne and Dr. Julian I. Gifford all reported their teams as one hundred per cent present.

The captains thanked their teams for their splendid support during the contest and urged upon all of them to continue in the good work.

The singing under the direction of Tom Rowland with Dan Bittner at the piano was unusually snappy, and good.

H. A. Miner spoke briefly in behalf of the Lake Glenerie road which is to be repaired this spring and which is of interest to the Y's Men because their camp is located on this road. The men promised to assist in every way possible to cooperate with the committee in charge of this work.

Earl McLean introduced as his guest William K. Atchinson who was given the usual hearty Y's Men's welcome.

The men expressed their appreciation of the fine dinner prepared by the Misses Davenport and served by the Misses Neal, Edith Quimby, Alma Quimby and Viola Porter.

It was decided to visit the Nyack Y's Men's Club on Tuesday evening, May 28. As the Nyack men are noted for their fine hospitality a warm welcome is assured.

Stanley Winne, Walter Workman, "Dutch" Craw and Karl Messinger were appointed by President Mert McLoughlin as a committee to arrange for a dance and general social time at their Lake Glenerie Camp. The committee no doubt will have a report to make at next week's meeting.

The meeting was then turned over to the evening's entertainment committee consisting of Lester Finley, George Hutt and G. Warren Klas. Lester Finley acting as chairman said he was pleased to have the pleasure of introducing St. James M. E. Church's new minister, the Rev. F. H. Neal, as the speaker for the evening.

The Rev. Mr. Neal made a fine impression on the men and gave one of the finest talks on "Salesmanship" that the club has ever enjoyed. At the completion of this fine address he was given vigorous applause and the men voted that in the near future they would attend his church in a body.

The entertainment committee for next week will be Fred Van Deusen, John Romulus and Earl McLean.

REFUSING "LIGHT" INSULT IN GERMANY

Denial of Match May Bring Heavy Fine.

Dresden, Germany.—A Dresden appeal court has upheld a man who complained against another for refusing to give him a light on the street. The specific charge was insult and offense.

Like most laws, this law against insult and offense has a common-sense background, although it may be abused by frivolous, or childish, or spiteful application. The law is designed primarily to curb those persons who are grossly offensive and rude to their neighbors and so are likely to create breaches of the peace. A comparable law was that on the staute books of some of the states of the United States long before prohibition, which forbade drinking alcoholic liquor on trains. Experience had proved that many times train drinkers became drunk and abusive and a menace to their fellow passengers.

Often Wrongly Applied.

The great trouble with such laws as that upheld in Dresden is that they are often wrongly applied. Any man asked for a light late at night by a burly stranger in a deserted street might well think that the old scheme of asking for a light preparatory to pulling a robbery of the wayfarer was about to be tried. Certainly, the average person in the United States looks askance at light askers in deserted streets, and more so at strangers who ask the time. Still, a law against insult and offense might be a boon for lightweights in subway crushes or would-be ticket buyers at some New York theaters.

Fines up to $100 and even imprisonment are the penalties which threaten the Germans who refuse a light to a stranger in the street anxious to ignite his cigarette, cigar or pipe.

This is the great surprise for the German world of smokers provided as the verdict in the case before the Dresden court of appeal.

Insult Upheld.

Herr Krause, hurrying home one night last year through the streets of Dresden, had somewhat brusquely refused the request of a fellow pedestrian that he should stop and allow him to light his cigarette on the glowing end of Herr Krause's cigar.

The petitioner took Herr Krause's refusal so much to heart that he pursued him and had him arrested by a policeman, who took Herr Krause's address.

The owner of the unlighted cigarette then proceeded to sue Herr Krause before the civic court for insult and offense, which under German law is punishable with heavy fines and even imprisonment. Herr Krause was found guilty of having insulted the would-be-smoker and was sentenced to pay a small fine.

He appealed against this verdict, however, and the Dresden court of appeal absolved him from the fine, but declared at the same time that "the refusal to oblige a person with a light can constitute an insult."

Consider Martial Law in Strike Zone

Elizabethton, Tenn., May 15 (AP).—Interest in the rayon workers strike situation here centured today in the state capitol at Nashville, where a conference between Governor Henry H. Horton and Adjutant General W. C. Boyd, on the advisability of martial law was in prospect. A statement from Boyd's office yesterday said he expected to confer with the governor today regarding the possibility of martial law over the entire strike zone.

Public apprehension over disorders yesterday which resulted in the arrest of more than 300 strikers, was intensified last night with the explosion of two dynamite sticks in an orchard at the home of S. J. Bowling, between Elizabethton and Johnson City.

Col. R. S. Roschelle, who dispatched a detachment of guardsmen to the scene, said Bowling told him he had been warned by strikers that his home would be bombed if he allowed his four daughters to continue their work in the American Bemberg Rayon plant here. Bowling said he believed the dynamite was thrown from one of several automobiles which passed his home last night. Little damage was done. Colonel Roschelle asserted the situation here had become so acute he thought it probable martial law would be declared.

MORROWS ARE PREPARING FOR DAUGHTER'S MARRIAGE

New York, May 15 (AP).—Although thousands of miles separated Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and Mrs. Morrow today, their activities and utterances indicated a common thought—the approaching marriage of their daughter, Anne, to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

In Mexico City the ambassador was making preparations to leave for home within a week or ten days and spend some time here and in Washington before joining his family.

Mrs. Morrow in an address last night at Northampton, Mass., to the senior class of Smith College, of which she is a trustee, promised to think of the class at commencement, June 17, if she could not be with them. Her remark was interpreted as a reference to the wedding of her daughter, which is expected to take place at about that date. Miss Constance Morrow accompanied her mother. Miss Anne Morrow was not with them.

H. O. Grant, caretaker of the Morrow estate at North Haven, said several servants had arrived but that he did not expect Mrs. Morrow and her daughters before the middle of next week or later. He said he believed the home would be opened about June 1. Previous reports were that Mrs. Morrow was going to North Haven to prepare the home for the honeymoon.

May Name Davis For Philippines

Washington, May 15 (AP)—Dwight F. Davis, secretary of war in the Hoover cabinet, is the most likely choice for governor general of the Philippines and announcement of his selection apparently awaits information as to whether he would accept the post.

Mr. Davis' name has been suggested in connection with an ambassadorial appointment to one of the major European countries and there has been little conjecture connecting his name with that of a successor to Henry L. Stimson, now secretary of state.

Appointment of the governor general of the Philippines is to be made within the near future, as the new governor general is to be at his Manila post before July 19, the date on which the Philippine assembly ends.

TUNNEY AND DEMPSEY NOT ELECTED TO MEMBERSHIP

New York, May 15 (AP)—The New York American said today there was a buzz of suppressed excitement at the New York Athletic Club over the unsuccessful efforts by Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey to become members.

The fact that Tunney had applied for membership last July was only revealed last night when the board of governors after their monthly meeting failed to announce Dempsey's election. Members of the board explained that "Dempsey's name never had been submitted by the membership committee.

The names of all applicants must first go to the membership committee, which is composed of five members. Three black balls are sufficient to prevent an application from being sent to the board of governors for final action. None of the membership committeemen would admit any black balls had been cast against Dempsey.

The American quoted Dr. John F. Connors, chairman of the committee that favorably reported the Tunney application, as saying Tunney was elected to membership by the board of governors but that "something must have happened" after the election to cause his rejection.

SMITH TALKS TO HARVARD FACULTY ON WATER POWER.

Boston, May 15 (AP)—Forty-five members of the faculty of Harvard University, who supported Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York state in his presidential campaign last fall, today found much to marvel at in the detailed knowledge of intricate water power problems he revealed in an intimate two-hour talk at the Union Club last night where he was their guest.

The same "Al" who seven months ago was cheered by countless thousands in what was one of the biggest demonstrations of the entire campaign, slipped into the city almost unrecognized although he wore his time honored headgear, the inevitable brown derby.

Not only was the general public unaware that the former Democratic candidate was here but leaders of the party in the state were in equal ignorance. The dinner itself was strictly private and although Smith sought to dismiss his address as just "gossip between old friends", others described it as "astonishing" in wealth of fact.

An action brought by Mrs. Grace Riseley against William Jacoff, an action for personal injuries, was taken up in Supreme court today. Mrs. Riseley seeks to recover damages for injuries sustained when a truck car in which she was riding met with an accident at Highmount some two years ago. She alleges that a taxicab of Jacoff was the cause of the accident. Blaine Ready to Fight Anderson

Johnny Blaine will be ready to fight Bobby Anderson of New York city at the local armory Friday night, according to his handlers, who predict that the little Kingston battler will make the negro infantryman do more than his share of battling.

Blaine is a strong little boy with a good punch. This statement is bolstered by the fact that he stopped Charlie Molvin, another Kingston battler of considerable ruggedness and the possessor of a good wallop, when they met at Middletown last summer. At the time Molvin was considered in his prime.

Bobby Anderson will be in the "pink" of condition for the Friday night fight, it is said, because he desires not only to beat Blaine, but show the Kingston fight patrons that he has the goods. In two recent fights here Anderson displayed desirable ring tactics, but was too conservative in his style and lost out on the decisions.

The Blaine-Anderson six round affair will draw many to the armory Friday night, it is predicted, because both scrappers are quite popular.

The other matches on the card, including the feature attraction between Ray Halverson of Newburgh and Jimmy Doyle of New York, promise to be just as interesting, so a record crowd likely will pack the drill shed.

FIRST ROUND TIE MATCHES THURSDAY

Montreal, Que., May 15 (AP).—Rival Canadian and United States Davis cup tennis teams have completed strenuous practice for first round tie matches, which begin tomorrow.

Although the actual selections have not yet been made, it was anticipated that John Hennessey and John Van Ryn will be chosen to represent the United States in the two singles matches set for tomorrow with Dr. Jack Wright and Willard Crocker as the Canadian selections.

For the doubles Friday there was room for considerable advance speculation. Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison were regarded as the likely United States team although the choice may fall on Hennessey and Fritz Mercur.

Canada has three possible combinations with no one of them especial advance favorites. Crocker and Wright form one pair; Wright and Dr. Arthur Ham another, and Crocker and Marcel Rainville the third.

Crocker has been troubled with a slight arm injury and the Canadian Davis cup committee may elect to play him only in the singles.

The final two singles matches of the five match tie are to be played Saturday. The team winning three out of the five matches advances to the second round of American zone play.

HORSES THAT CAN PERFORM IN THE MUCK GIVEN ATTENTION.

Louisville, Ky., May 15 (AP).—Horses that can perform in the muck, and like the sloppy going which may prevail at Churchill downs Saturday, are objects of the closest attention of handicappers of Kentucky derby candidates.

The track may be heavy, as it has been all this week so far, or it may not. But the question most frequently asked concerning any of the eligibles for the fifty-fifth running of the turf classic is: "Can he perform in the mud?"

Anyway, Windy City, Fred M. Grabner's entry, added a legion of supporters to his train yesterday when he romped to the wire ahead of ten other derby candidates in the fifth and feature race at the downs. The derby candidates mowed down by Windy City's impressive performance were Paraphrase, Port Harlem, Naishapur, Lord Bradelbane, The Choctaw, Ervast, Prince Pat, Suitor, Double Heart and Botanical.

As a result of this contest under colors, it is predicted that a number of additional withdrawals will result before the running of the derby Saturday. Much depends upon the condition of the track.

Looking Ahead in South

Opinion in the South that the practice of forestry can be made to pay substantial profits now amounts to almost a positive assurance, says the American Tree association. A lively interest has arisen in the renewing of timber crops on logged-off lands.

Poughkeepsie Pro Nine Still Intact

Concerning the report that some of the Dahn-Shurter baseball combination of Poughkeepsie would leave that nine to play with Freddy Wetmore's proposed Kingston Colonials, Cal Boyal, sports editor of the Poughkeepsie Evening Star, had the following to say on Tuesday:

Several rumors have been heard lately that some of the players on the local nine would leave Poughkeepsie to join Freddy Wetmore's Kingston club, but this is strongly denied by Manager Dahn.

"I have questioned every man about joining Wetmore's club," said Dahn this morning, "and all have promised to stay on the Poughkeepsie team as long as they are wanted. Several have been approached but insist that they wouldn't play with Wetmore if he offered them three times as much as he did. So I hope Wetmore leaves my players alone.

"He should remember he is running a Kingston team and get his players up there. Poughkeepsie people want to see Poughkeepsie boys play here. As for Jack Robins, the only Kingston man on the team, he has assured me that he wouldn't jump the local club for the best man up there and least of all, Wetmore.

"Shurter, myself and the players on the local team, don't think it takes much nerve to play any club that Wetmore can get. Tell him to go ahead and get the best players he can, win some games and then we'll play him a series for any amount he wants. The fans all over Riverview Field were loud in their praise of the local club Sunday and very much against the tactics of Wetmore and won't stand for him tampering with the local team. Furthermore, the players are not interested."

Po'keepsie High Ready for Locals

Jack Draney or "Bill" Whitsell will get the call to go on the mound and twirl for the Poughkeepsie High School baseball team against the Cornwall high nine at Memorial Field this afternoon. Mike Weiss will be behind the plate to stop the slants of either.

Draney has been showing quite a little stuff in the practice skirmishes this week and Kalloch will probably give him the chance to show what he can do under fire. Since Benny Cohen turned in his uniform, Kalloch has been working on the aforementioned men to get another pitcher to work with Grubb and Cutten and the one who comes through against Cornwall will probably get that honor.

The rest of the team continues to show improvement in the field and at the bat and the locals will undoubtedly take the field against Kingston here Saturday, favorites to beat the Colonial city lads and take the last DUSO championship for which the Blue and White will compete.

If Draney pitches, Grubb will be on first with Abramsky at second, Marcus at short, and O'Shea at third. Cutten will probably hold down left field with Gordon in center, and Wing in right. Kalloch is expecting a chance to use his entire squad before the game is over, but will start the regulars to get the runs coming in first.

Kingston is planning on bringing a large crowd of rooters here for the skirmish which will get under way Saturday afternoon at 2:15. The game tomorrow will start at 4 o'clock.—The Poughkeepsie Evening Star and Enterprise.

THIRD VICTORY SCORED BY GLENNA COLLETT.

St. Andrews, May 19 (AP).—Glenna Collett, American champion, continued her march to the finals of the British women's golf championship today, defeating Beryl Brown, of Formby, four and two, in a third round match.

Despite the fact that the match was played in a torrential rain, Miss Collett played much the best golf she has displayed in this championship. Observers took this as an indication that the American finally has learned how to combat Great Britain's capricious weather.

Miss Collett took the lead at the third hole of her match with Miss Brown and never thereafter surrendered it. She had lost the first hole and won the second, leaving the match all square. At the third the American champion putted dead from 30 feet and holed out in par four while the English girl was taking five. The next four holes were halved but Miss Collett took the eighth with a three and rounded the turn two up.

It developed into a ding-dong battle over the incoming journey. The American went three up at the tenth but the English girl won the eleventh only to see Miss Collett again go three up by taking the twelfth in four. After the thirteenth had been halved in fives, Miss Brown reduced the American's lead to two up with a win at the fourteenth. Miss Collett then steadied to win the next two holes and the match.

Joyce Wethered, England's hope, defeated Miss C. Shewan, 5 and 3.

Tagging Major League Bases

By William J. Chipman,
Associated Press Sports Writer

Major league baseball lost another decision to the weather man yesterday, but on a decision rather than by a knockout. Exactly one-half of the schedule was saved, enough to affect the standing in both leagues. The Athletics pulled into first place, half a game ahead of the idle Yankees, by defeating the Tigers at Detroit, 10 to 8, in a game which left eight pitchers draped upon the ropes, while the Braves showed the Cubs into a deadlock with St. Louis in the National League, shading the McCarthymen in 12 innings, 6 to 5.

The Cardinals, moving into a tie for the lead in John Heydler's circuit without so much as unlimbering a bat, thus profited from idleness at a moment when the Yankees found it costly. This is the first time in four years that the Yanks have been anywhere but first place at this particular stage of the month of May.

The Athletics not only drew slightly away from the Yankees yesterday, but also registered a neat gain over the Browns, who persist in threatening from the third rung of the American League ladder. The Senators stopped the Browns in another knock-down-and-drag-out affair by a score of 9 to 7, aiding both the A's and the Yankees.

The triumph of the Mackmen in Detroit was nothing for Connie Mack to gloat over, in view of what happened to his pitchers. Starting for the fourth time this season, the veteran John Picus Quinn found Tiger bats too warm for him in the fifth, but remained in action long enough to pick up official credit for the victory. Bill Shores, Eddie Rommel and the eminent Grove were sent for before the Tigers gasped their last. Grove fanned Hargrave and Johnson with the bases filled to end the game.

Praudhomme, Van Gilder, Yde and Billings were placed upon display by Stanley Harris, and the Athletics greeted them all alike. Al Simmons got his fifth home run while Bob Fothergill also pounded one out of the lot in the ninth inning rally which put a bit more white upon the head of Professor McGillicuddy.

In the remaining American League game, the Chicago White Sox evened their series against Boston by winning, 6 to 2. Bob Weiland pitched a smart game for the Blackburne host, and received the aid of a home run contribution from the bat of Chalmer Cissell.

The Braves and the Cubs had the stage all to themselves in the senior league, and celebrated by giving Boston fans their first extra-inning entertainment of the season. The twelfth-round celebration of Benny James and Al Spohrer, who drove that session to hit doubles, cost Percy Malone his first defeat of the season after five winning efforts.

The real feature of the Boston engagement was the brilliant relief pitching of Johnny Cooney. John entered the debate in the eighth inning after the Braves had tied the score at 5 to 5, and held the Cubs to three inconspicuous hits in five rounds while waiting for the home defenders to get a run for him. Ben Cantwell gave the Bruins six hits and five runs through the first seven innings.

Nobody can say with precision just which team profited by the carrying over of the Red-Giant fray at the Polo Grounds, but it is fairly certain that the Robins lost nothing by postponing their scheduled hostilities against the troublesome Pirates at Ebbets Field.

"KID" NICHOLS WAS "IRON-MAN"

His Record With Boston Has Never Been Equaled.

When the great pitchers of baseball are discussed, the names of Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, Grover Alexander, Cy Young, Amos Rusie, Tim Keefe, John Clarkson, Charley Radbourne and others of equal skill invariably are mentioned, writes Joe Vila of the New York Sun. But there was one pitcher in the days of the National league's 12-club circuit who must be ranked with the best. Charley (Kid) Nichols of Frank Selee's champion Bostons established a wonderful record, which seldom has received notice.

Nichols was the leading pitcher of the Bostons when they won the pennants—in 1891, 1892, 1893, 1897 and 1898. During these victorious campaigns he pitched 228 complete games, winning 155 and losing 70, a percentage of .700. In 1894, 1895 and 1896 his yearly winning percentage was not so high. But he averaged 40 games a year.

Nichols in 1891 pitched 47 games without being relieved and won 30. His record in 1892 was 35 victories and 16 defeats, in 1893 32 and 14, in 1897 30 and 11, and in 1898 31 and 12.

Winning 30 or more games in the National league seasons for the same team is a record hung up by Nichols, which never has been surpassed.

About five feet ten inches tall and weighing 165 pounds, Nichols was noted for his speed-ball delivery. In fact, during his entire career he depended chiefly on speed and a sharply breaking curve ball, which he controlled with remarkable skill.

Nichols in 1891 figured in a memorable pitching duel with Amos Rusie at the Polo grounds, then located on the vacant lot next to the Giants' present home. The game went into extra innings, with the score nothing to nothing, until the late Mike Tiernan ended the struggle with a long home-run drive over the right field fence. Nichols and Rusie, thereafter, hooked up in numerous tests of skill with honors about even.

King Returns to Windsor Castle

Bognor, England, May 15 (AP)— After a stay of 13½ weeks at Craigwell House, where he slowly regained his health after a long and serious illness, King George, accompanied by Queen Mary, left today for Windsor Castle.

King George appeared in good spirits and smiled and waved his hand continually as the procession of three cars, containing Queen Mary and himself, his doctors and the nurses, moved slowly through Bognor. The crowds cheered him continuously.

At the grand stand at Bognor a short halt was made when a member of the town council made a short address wishing his majesty godspeed and a complete restoration of health. The king replied briefly.

Almost the last action of the king and queen at Craigwell House was to distribute souvenirs to all the royal servants and the marines who have attended them during their stay. Each man received either a pair of gold cuff links or a gold scarf pin with the royal monogram in blue enamel.

A Triumphal Procession.

Chichester, Eng., May 15 (AP)— The progress of King George and Queen Mary from Craigwell House, Bognor, to Windsor Castle today was a triumphal procession.

The population of every hamlet, town and city turned out en masse and cheered the sovereign as he passed. Everywhere there were manifestations of delight at a glimpse of his majesty, who now seems nearly recovered from his serious illness of the winter.

REDEEMER LUTHERAN CHURCH ACTIVITIES.

The Senior Luther League of Redeemer Lutheran Church had a busy meeting Monday evening. It was voted to have the Luther League of Middletown give their play on June 7. There was a discussion on a hike on Memorial Day.

About six are planning to attend the State Luther League Convention to be held in Rochester May 30 to June 2. John Houghtaling was elected delegate to this convention, which is expected to number a thousand young people from all over the state.

The young people will conduct a service at the City Home Sunday afternoon at 4.

On Sunday, May 26, the monthly Fellowship Hour will be held.

Much interest is being taken in a debate to be held June 9 at 6:30 p. m. The subject of the debate is, "The Church is Not Meeting the Problems of Youth." The affirmative will be represented by Hilda Port and Fred Spalt while George Hutt and Kathryn Bailey will debate the other side of the question.

It was voted to make a contribution of five dollars to the Italian Lutheran Mission in the East Side of New York.

The League will have full charge of a church service some Sunday during June.

The local league was honored last Saturday at the Rhinebeck district convention by the fact that its vice president, George Hutt, was elected as president of the district. He was also elected as delegate to the state convention representing the district. John Houghtaling was elected alternate from the district.

Young Men's Real Needs

It is not book learning young men need, nor instruction about this and that, but a stiffening of the vertebrae which will cause them to be loyal to a trust, to act promptly, concentrate their energies, do a thing—"carry a message to Garcia."—Hubbard.

The earliest known public inn in this country was licensed by the General Court of Massachusetts in 1634. Inns increased rapidly from that time on. Erecting Modern Service Station

Newcombe Station at Broadway and Delaware Avenue Will Be One of The Finest In The City.

The A. R. Newcombe Oil Corporation is having erected a new gasoline and oil service station to replace the present station located at the corner of Broadway and Delaware avenue. Teller & Halverson of this city are the architects. The new station is being erected on the site of the old frame house which has been moved across Delaware avenue to make room for the enlarged station. It was over the erection of a service station on this site that there was a long controversy with the city officials over the question of whether the city zoning ordinance prohibited expansion of the station and the oil company finally won its point. The contention of the oil company was that the city in preparing a zoning ordinance had drawn a line through the property placing a portion of it in the business zone and a part in the residence zone.

This new station will be one of the finest in the city, fully equipped with every modern convenience to serve its customers quickly and efficiently with ample yard and cover space to take care of a great many cars at the same time.

The main service portion will be a square building having a dominating high pitched roof with covered sheds flanking each side. Colonnaded circular head windows are to be placed on the Broadway and Delaware avenue sides of the building affording ample light and display space for merchandise. It is designed in the spirit of the French Chateau type with two-tone brick and cast stone trimmings. The building will be ideally lighted with the most modern lighting arrangement and in addition to the general illumination will be flood lighted with the latest type of flood lighting units set on ornamental standards harmonizing with the general architecture of the building.

The general contract has been awarded to Clarence Van Aken, the electrical contract to Carl Miller & Son and the roof metal work to Henry Olson, Inc. The plumbing is being done by John H. Matthews.

Rainfall Double Normal in April

Rainfall for April, as recorded by the rainfall stations of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation in cooperation with the U. S. Weather Bureau, was more than double the normal amount.

The amount at each station for April, 1929, compared with the normal for April over a number of years, is shown below:

Rainfall, in Inches.

Honk Falls	7.44	2.85
High Falls	8.75	5.07
Dashville	8.71	3.54

Trade Board Big Factor in Chicago's Progress

The jobs of 20,000 men and women are directly dependent on the existence of the Chicago Board of Trade; 100,000 are employed indirectly because of the "world's largest" commodity exchange. These figures indicate the important part the board has taken in building Chicago into the fifth city of the world and the financial and marketing center of the Middle West.

Early in 1848 a small group of influential leaders, engaged in pulling Chicago out of the mud that was old Fort Dearborn, organized the board of trade. Memberships in those days could be bought for a comparatively few dollars. Today the total value of memberships, at a conservative estimate, is $50,000,000.

In the old days, tolling wagonloads of wheat and corn arrived from across the prairies in Chicago and were promptly sold at the exchange. Long before the end of the board's eighty-first year, Chicago was the railroad center of the world and farm products moved to market in modern style. It is estimated that one-seventh of all the revenue of midwestern railroads now is derived from the transport of farm crops to market. A great part of their shipments go to Chicago for sale on the exchange.

Thinks He Has Special Reason for Complaint

The driver of a small car, parked in a crowded downtown section, stopped short and stared at the apparent nakedness of the machine. The spare tire was missing.

With a nonchalant shrug, he muttered something about "thieves will be thieves" and began to climb into the machine. But he stopped short again and stooped to pick up a wrench from the running board. His face grew crimson, and the things he said were terms not generally employed by frequenters of social teas.

"What's the trouble?" asked the Stroller.

"A lot!" he snapped. "I don't mind these crooks stealing my tire, but when they open my car and take my tools to do it with, that's too much!"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Turkeys Bred by Aztecs

Although the earliest authentic record of the turkey refers to its introduction into Spain in 1524, a French writer says turkeys were first brought to France in 1518. When the Spaniards conquered Mexico they found semi-domesticated turkeys in the zoological parks of the Aztecs, he writes. Among the Pueblo Indians of the Southwest turkeys were raised before the coming of the Spaniards and these fowls had reached about the same degree of domestication that pigeons have today.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Education's Value

It has been estimated that the daily value of education in an elementary school is $9; in a high school, $40, and in a college, $100. This study was based upon a survey of less than a thousand people and for that reason it is subject to inaccuracy.

Prince of Wales Saves Man's Life

London, May 15 (AP).—The Daily Express today said the Prince of Wales yesterday saved a foreman at the Industrial Exposition at Newcastle from serious injury or worse.

The foreman became entangled in the belting of a machine used to manufacture tin containers. The Prince who had listened to him explain the mechanism, was standing only a yard away.

He grabbed the man's overalls and pulled him clear just as he was about to be drawn into the machinery, which was revolving at a high speed. Once he lost his hold but recovered it.

Only a few officials saw the incident and the public was not aware of it. It was said the man would have lost his legs if not his life but for the timely intervention of the heir to the throne.
